TO CONSIDER ARMS PLANS OF RUSSIANS

Gains Right-of-Way for Proposals at Geneva
Negotiations

HENDERSON AND
SIMON DISAGREE

GENEVA, Sept. 22 (AP).—League of Nations Council was confronted tonight with a veritable kaleidoscope of international developments, which were touched off when Russia won her point for speedy consideration of substantial arms reduction plans.

This development came in the conference bureau, a sort of programme committee for the general conference, which is expected to resume soon. Maxim Litvinoff, the Russian delegate, proposed the bureau take up the Russian proposal for substantial reductions in arms, or the proposal of the United States for a one-third cut.

OVERRULLED POINT
Sir John Simon, British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and Joseph Paul-Boncour, of France, interposed objections, but Arthur Henderson, the chairman and former British Secretary of Foreign Affairs, denied their contention vigorously, and expressed the hope, on adjournment until Monday, that the proposals of these questions would be ready on that day or on Tuesday.

Thereafter appeared the two gravest problems before the council, the German demands for equality of armaments on a threat of withdrawal from the Disarmament Conference, and the filing of the report on the Far East prepared by Lord Lytton and his commissioners.

Baron Konstantin von Neurath, the German Foreign Minister, came to press Germany's demand for equality, and there was evidence league statesmen proposed to concentrate immediately on the German problem.

BRITISH VIEW
As for today's clash between the two Britons, Mr. Henderson and Sir John Simon, on the Russian proposal, a British spokesman explained tonight the Government was quite willing for the German demand to be thrust out in the bureau, but was anxious to have private conversations be first given a chance to accomplish something useful.

The Japanese were apparently deeply interested in the two reports widely circulated here today, first, that France had changed its attitude towards Japan and now will be found much more friendly to Tokyo's position, and second, that Edmond de Valera, the Irish Free State President, who will preside over the council, will have friendly sympathy with Japanese views.

GOV. ROOSEVELT BACKS JOHNSON

Has High Praise for Public Service of California
Senator

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 22.—In a renewed appeal that voters of all parties declare for the reelection of Franklin D. Roosevelt today told a crowd that jammed the red brick station at Sacramento that Senator Hiram Johnson, independent Republican from California, had long been "a warrior in the ranks of American progress."

Governor Roosevelt said: "I am particularly glad to be here in Sacramento today and speak to the townspeople of a man who has done so much to further progressive thought and courageous public action. I refer to your own Senator Hiram Johnson—long a warrior in the ranks of true American progress."

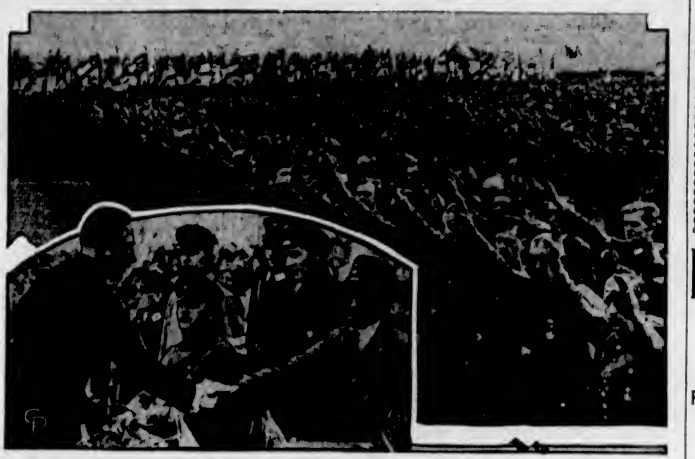

"I rejoice that he said yesterday that a government that thinks only of a favored few and that forces farmers whose homes are being taken away from them, and tolls whose wages have been decreased to the danger line is unworthy of the name and unfit to govern."

Sect Leaders Plan Appeal To Governor

REGINA, Sept. 22 (CP).—A delegation representing the various communities of Universal Brotherhood is seeking an audience with His Excellency the Earl of Bessborough, Governor-General, on behalf of their leader, Peter P. Verigin, at present in Prince Albert Penitentiary.

Although absolute denial had not been given to the demand that it was considered very unlikely Thursday in Government circles that the request would be granted.

Monarchist Demonstration in Germany

ABOVE is a general view of the huge gathering of the "Steel Helmets," Germany's most powerful monarchist organization, raising their hands in salute to their leaders during the recent demonstration at the Tempelhof airport in Berlin. The "Steel Helmets" are all ex-soldiers and comprise one of the strongest rival groups to Adolf Hitler and his Fascist party. Inset is Chancellor Franz von Papen, who reviewed the parade, shown as he greeted a disabled Great War veteran of the former imperial army.

Custodian of Trust Funds Admits Theft and Starts Sentence of Seven Years

John A. Macbray, K.C., Pleads Guilty to Charges of Appropriating University Endowment and Former Law Partner's Funds—Crown Asks for Severity and Defence for Leniency

WINNIPEG, Sept. 22 (CP).—The doors of Stony Mountain penitentiary clanged shut today behind the frail figure of John A. Macbray, K.C., the sixty-seven-year-old lawyer, for years a trusted custodian of the endowment funds of the University of Manitoba and of the Church of England. He began serving a seven-year term on two charges of theft.

Fleeing guilty in provincial police court today to theft of $500,000 from the university and $60,000 from a former law partner, Macbray was sentenced at once to seven years on each count, the sentences to run concurrently.

WAIVES RIGHT TO APPEAL
He waived his right to appeal, which carries with it the right to thirty days' confinement in jail before removal to penitentiary.

To Magistrate R. M. Noble fell the unpleasant task of sentencing a man he had known for more than twenty-five years and who during all that time had been regarded as a pillar of the church, a shrewd investor, banker and a conservative lawyer. The magistrate said, difficult as his position was, he had to put aside all feelings of friendship or prejudice and take into account only the duty to the public.

GIVE DIFFERENT VIEWS
The enviable reputation Macbray had built up over a long period of years and the confidence the public had reposed in him were cited by defence counsel on the one hand as a reason for leniency and by Crown

START REMOVAL OF INDIAN BAND

Police Sending Manitoba
Indians From Old Lands
Back to Reserve

WINNIPEG, Sept. 22 (CP).—Royal Canadian Mounted Police today removed thirty-five families of Saulteaux Indians from their old stamping grounds at St. Peter's Reservation, twelve miles north of Selkirk, Man. The natives, who had been trespassing on private hay lands since last July, were tonight camped along the road allowance. Angus Prince, secretary and spokesman for the band, protested the police order to return the band to the Fisher River Reserve on Lake Winnipeg. He claimed the original treaty of 1871, which gave the band possession of the St. Peter's Reserve, was still binding and in possession of their leader, Chief Grey Eyes.

CLAIMS ACT ILLEGAL
Two tribes of Saulteaux and Crees were transferred from St. Peter's Reserve to Fisher River, near Fisher River, in 1907. At that time, police state, Indians agreed to surrender their land at St. Peter's, receiving in consideration patents to land at Fisher River and $90 per head. The band holds the surrender of St. Peter's illegal and was, in fact, never executed.

Angus Prince announced further steps to safeguard the rights of the band will be taken and will not be stopped "until they reach the foot of the Throne." A law process in connection with the occupation of St. Peter's will come up for hearing here on October 3. The Indians, Prince said, will plead their original treaty which gave them St. Peter's Reserve while "the sun shines, the river runs and the grass grows."

B.C. Conservative Officials to Meet In Victoria Oct. 1

LEADING officials of the British Columbia Conservative Association announced last evening that a meeting of the executive of that body had been called for October 1, at the Empress Hotel in this city. Consideration of the steps taken by Premier Tolmie and his Government to meet present conditions is given as the purpose of the meeting.

P.G.E. DEAL IS LOOMING

Reginald Hayward, M.P.P.,
Returns From England—
Tells of New Proposal

A representative of an English investors' syndicate is coming here to negotiate with the Provincial Government for the purchase of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. It was announced by Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., on his return from Great Britain yesterday.

While in London I was afforded the opportunity of meeting the heads of several investing syndicates, all of whom are considering negotiations with a view to investing in the P.G.E. One group in particular, however, is much more important than the rest, and this group announced it would send a representative to Victoria to carry on negotiations with the Government," Mr. Hayward said.

CHOICES B.C.
"In the past the syndicate has invested heavily outside the Empire, particularly in the Argentine, but the leader, a prominent banker, has persuaded his colleagues to invest more within the Empire and has chosen British Columbia as the best bet," Mr. Hayward said.

"I am not at liberty to divulge the name of this syndicate or the names of its members, but I assure you that they are names that stand high in financial circles of not only the British Empire but other parts of the world."

"The leader said that his syndicate was prepared to invest in British Columbia over a long period of years, and I know that the syndicate is able to do this if given sufficient encouragement," Mr. Hayward said.

OTHERS INTERESTED
"Others also are considering the P.G.E. as a good development scheme, and I would not be at all surprised to see other representations sent here to negotiate with the Government. Canada seems to be the favorite Dominion in Great Britain today, particularly since the Imperial Conference, and I am confident that from now on more British capital will be invested here in the past," Mr. Hayward concluded.

HOPE TO AVOID TAX INCREASES

New Zealand Parliament Opens; Important Amendments Are Indicated

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Sept. 22 (CP).—Although the budgetary position still demanded anxious consideration on the part of all departments and officials, every effort was being made to avoid increased taxation, declared Lord Bledisloe, Governor of New Zealand, in the Speech From the Throne opening the New Zealand Parliament today.

The first contentious motion tabled was that of Henry Edmund Holland, Leader of the Opposition, who tabled a "no confidence" motion at the outset of the session. The Opposition Leader assailed the Government's policy of deflation and wage cuts.

Will Not Injure Towns By Scrapping Railways

OTTAWA, Sept. 22 (CP).—The lines through Northern Ontario. This will not be done. In fact, the commission does not recommend it. The most effective suggestion of the transportation commission is the arbitral board, which, if brought into being, will have power to force the two systems to co-operate to a much greater extent than at present. It is expected there will be many amalgamations of ticket offices and other services. Lines will likely be abandoned where duplication can be eliminated without injuring the one of the three transcontinental communities served.

GOVERNMENT REPLY TO KIDD REPORT TAKES ISSUE WITH MANY OF PROPOSED CHANGES

Features of Government Reply to Kidd Report Summarized

Some of the highlights of the Provincial Government's reply to the criticisms of the Kidd committee include:
Deficits commented upon have been largely caused by insistent public demand for expenditures.

Reduction of $6,000,000 in annual expenditures, as recommended, would be impracticable without injuring the efficiency of the public service. Reduction of $5,849,000 was effected in the last appropriations.

British Columbia has the largest sinking funds of any province, and will retire $50,000,000 of public debt from sinking fund provisions within ten years.

The Government will not hand over its income tax auditing to the Dominion.

The suggestion that the Lieutenant-Governor control ordinary expenditures is characterized as a reversion to pre-Cromwellian days.

The Government will not limit free education to pupils who have not attained their fourteenth birthday.

While agreeing that some measure of Normal School charges should be borne by pupils, the Government will not charge the whole cost to them.

There is no immediate likelihood of abandonment of the University of British Columbia.

The Pacific Great Eastern Railway will not be abandoned, though every effort will be exercised in the interest of economy.

The Provincial Police will not be merged with the R.C.M.P.

The Government will not hand over control of fisheries, worth $22,000,000 annually, to the Federal Government.

Distribution of beer from beer parlors is contrary to statute.

Repeal of minimum wage laws would be regarded as a retrograde step.

Market extension service, which the Kidd report suggested should be dropped, is characterized as being an essential to return of prosperity.

FRANCE HAS NO NEW INTENTION

Not Likely to Recognize New State of Manchukuo—
Russia May

PARIS, Sept. 22 (AP).—France has no intention of recognizing the new State of Manchukuo, it was said today in a high official quarter.

The United States on the Far Eastern situation, but as ardently hoping that the Manchurian affair would not lead to withdrawal of Japan from the League of Nations.

RUSSIAN ATTITUDE
TOKIO, Sept. 22 (AP).—Official sources here, today, were under the impression that "some form of Soviet recognition for the new State of Manchukuo was possible in the near future."

It was pointed out, however, the frequent reports emanating from Changchun, that the Soviet Government intended to give out-and-out recognition to Manchukuo, were without any substantial basis.

It was explained these reports emanated mostly from Japanese advisers of the Manchukuo regime, and stressed, for the most part, Moscow's friendly attitude toward the new state.

AUSTRALIAN MINISTER OF TRANSPORT RESIGNS
CANNBERRA, Australia, Sept. 22 (CP).—First resignation under Prime Minister Joseph Lyons, came today when Hon. E. W. Hawker, Minister of Transport and Markets, dramatically announced his resignation because of dissatisfaction with the extent of Parliament salary cuts.

Speaking while the House was discussing the financial emergency bill for reduction of public expenditures, Mr. Hawker contended the reduction of parliamentary salaries should be greater than 25 per cent, with which the Government leaders did not agree.

Will Not Abandon P.G.E. or Curtail Free Education and Wage Laws

RETAIN POLICE
AND FISHERIES

British Columbia is in no danger of passing under the wing of the Dominion Government to meet its current or future obligations. On the contrary, with sinking funds set aside on a basis to retire $50,000,000 of its net debt of $111,000,000 in the next ten years, it occupies a premier position among Canadian provinces. This conclusion emerges from the official comment by the British Columbia Government on the Kidd report, the first copy of which was delivered late yesterday to the Cabinet.

PUBLIC DEMANDS
The text of the Government's reply agrees with the Kidd report in its recital of twenty years of deficits, but places the chief onus for this on incessant public demand, fostered by public bodies, some of whom were component elements represented by the inquiring panel which presented the report. In the budget addresses of both the present and the former Ministers of Finance, these deficits were clearly pointed out, despite which public demand, to the tune of $15,000,000 in a single quarter of a recent year, continued.

The official reply by the Government concurs with the Kidd committee that it is time for cessation of unnecessary demands for all forms of Government, and thanks the committee heartily for the spirit in which its recommendations to this end were presented.

CUTS SALARIES OF OFFICERS

C.P.R. Announces Reductions—President Hopes for Early Restoration

MONTREAL, Sept. 22 (CP).—On October 1 salary reductions will be effected among all the higher officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway. According to an official statement issued tonight, the president, directors and members of the executive committee will accept a cut of 15 per cent. Salaries of general, district, divisional and departmental officers will be lowered by 10 per cent.

Hope was expressed by E. W. Beatty, president of the railway, that it will not be necessary to allow the reduced rate for too long a period, and that the former salary schedule will eventually be restored.

DECREASED REVENUES
In personal letter to those affected, Mr. Beatty drew attention to the need for this in order to meet decreased revenues. At the same time, he points out that the salaries of the company's officers have never, in his judgment, been disproportionate to their responsibilities or to the importance of the positions they occupied, but that the compensation which the company could afford to pay under normal conditions was not that which it could pay with earnings as low as they now were.

INTERESTS OF COMPANY
The president's letter also draws attention to the fact that the company's shareholders for the time being are not receiving dividends, and that all should participate in the sacrifices required in the interest of the company.

How much will be saved in the salary reduction has not been made known, but the amount is understood to be very considerable.

Three Contesting Riding in Wales

CARDIGAN, Wales, Sept. 22 (CP).—Elections went to the polls today in this Welsh constituency, in the by-election made necessary by the appointment of the Liberal member, R. Hopkin Morris, as a London police court magistrate.

The contest was three-cornered with D. Owen Evans representing the Liberal Party. He was opposed by Colonel Fitzwilliams, Conservative, and Rev. D. M. Jones, a county councillor of Glamorgan, nominated by Labor.

Merger of Dioceses Suggested

WINNIPEG, Sept. 22 (CP).—The winning committee of delegates from the Church of England Diocese of Rupert's Land tonight wired Bishop A. H. Sovereign of the Yukon, inviting him to accept the Bishopric of Athabasca, in accordance with a proposal to group the administration of the dioceses of Yukon and Mackenzie under Dr. W. A. Geddes, at present Bishop of Mackenzie River.

George Kidd to Address Chamber Wednesday Night

GEORGE KIDD, chairman of the commission that made the recent report to the Government along lines suggesting future action, will address the Chamber of Commerce members on Wednesday evening in the auditorium of the chamber. The meeting is set for 8 o'clock. It will be presided over by R. H. B. Ker, president of the organization.

In order to afford the opportunity to all members of the chamber to hear Mr. Kidd, the front of the auditorium will be reserved for them. The remainder of the accommodation will be available to other citizens who wish to attend. In his address the speaker will deal with the subject matter of the report.

that the bonds could be put out in coupons as low as $1 divided into 50c units. Citizens would buy these and use them as cash in paying for work done about their gardens or home. If they had not work at home or already employed someone, they could turn the bonds over to the city, which would use them for the employment of men in park development or other work.

BLOCKS OF BONDS
Mr. Kidd said that organizations might purchase blocks of bonds and contribute them to the city for the purpose of carrying out work that they felt ought to be done. For instance, he said, the owners of this city feel the need for more bowling greens. The job might be done for $1,500. They could purchase $500 worth of bonds and turn them over to the city, which would carry the work out at Beacon Hill Park or some other suitable location and the bowlers would obtain $3 worth of work for every $1 they spent, inasmuch as the Provincial Government would contribute $1 and the Federal Government another $1.

He explained, however, that work done in private homes would not be on the same basis. In these instances the resident would undertake to give a man job and pay him with the bonds he had. Only when the work was conducted by the city would the bond be trebled in its working value.

DEBATE PLANS
There was considerable debate regarding the feasibility of both plans, but it was felt that any of the good points of the "man a block" scheme could be incorporated in the "human interest bond" scheme which the latter was placed into operation.

The organizations represented at the meeting of the central committee were as follows: Women's Canadian Club, Y.W.C.A., I.O.G.E., St. Vincent de Paul, Business and Professional Women's Club, Citizens' Recreation Room Committee, Rotary Club, Victoria West Brotherhood, Kinsmen Club, Social Service League, Kinsmen Club, Salvation Army, Central Executive, Native Sons of Canada, Trades and Labor Council, Optimist Club, Y.M.C.A., Women's Workroom and Chamber of Commerce.

CUSTODIAN OF TRUST FUNDS SENTENCED
counsel on the other hand as a reason for severity of sentence. Mr. Macbray was pictured by A. E. Hoskins, K.C., his counsel, as a man who had given his whole life to the service of his country and the university, who might have been guilty of bad business methods but was never animated by a "criminal motive."

The most serious aspect of the case, in the opinion of John Allen, K.C., deputy attorney-general and chief Crown counsel, was the shock given public confidence. The magistrate should take into consideration not only Macbray's position in the community but the extraordinary trust reposed in him. A higher standard of conduct was expected of such a man than of ordinary men.

HAS NOT LONG TO LIVE
For months a sufferer from cancer, Macbray's friends today viewed the sentence as a sentence of death. The opinion was freely expressed he would not live to serve more than a small part of his term.

The accused looked wan and pale as he sat in the courtroom, but he showed little trace of emotion when the sentence was pronounced. When asked to plead he referred to his counsel and then in a firm voice answered "Guilty."

Suggestion the irregularities in the funds of the University of Manitoba dated back to a time prior to Macbray's trusteeship was thrown out by Mr. Hoskins. He said it would be impossible to properly place blame until the investigation into the books now under way was completed and the status of the university funds when Macbray took them over twenty-five years ago was determined.

At least one investment, a mortgage for $3,000, had gone bad prior to that time. During all these years it had been carried along as if it were a good investment. The loss had never been written off and interest totaling more than $12,000 had been paid to the university.

WORLD GHOSTLY UNDER ECLIPSE

W. E. Harper Tells Astro-nomical Society About Weird Effects

"During totality, lasting about 100 seconds, the light was as bright as full moonlight. The world had a weird appearance. White tents and green grass became ghostly, even houses and mountains seemed phantasmal, and purple and greys predominated. Then, when the light came it rushed back across the earth out of the northwest as if a mighty curtain had been lifted from the sky, and everyone turned to watch the shadow disappear in the southeast like the vanishing gloom of a great thunderstorm."

This graphic picture of the moment of totality during the recent solar eclipse was given by W. E. Harper, assistant director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory here, in the address on "Solar Eclipses which he gave for the Victoria centre of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada at the opening meeting of its Autumn series last evening.

EXCELLENT SLIDES
Illustrated with a series of excellent lantern slides, many made from photographs which he took at Moose camp where he viewed the eclipse, Mr. Harper's lecture attracted a capacity audience, which gleaned a great deal concerning eclipses in general, and the recent solar eclipse in particular, together with a graphic picture of the paraphernalia, equipment, personnel and working methods of such camps. P. H. Hughes, the president, was in the chair, and a cordial vote of thanks was moved by Dr. J. S. Flakett, director of the Astrophysical Observatory.

Mr. Harper noted that while actual measurements of the photographs secured by the successful expeditions would not be available for some months, some general conclusions, including the inference that the ionizing agent for the Kennelly-Hendry layer in the upper atmosphere of the earth seemed to be ultra-violet light from the sun, seemed to be warranted.

FAST INTEREST
The eclipse was of short duration, but attracted a large number of equipped expeditions along the central line of totality, about 50 per cent having clear skies and securing excellent photographs. A. Magog, Quebec, were two members of the local observatory, Mr. Harper and Mr. Beal, also two former members, Dr. Rodman, now of Cambridge, and Peter Milman.

WARD TWO Endorses Coalition
Premier S. F. Tolmie's efforts to form a Union Government were endorsed in a resolution passed at last night's meeting of the Saanich Ward Two Conservative Association. The motion was carried unanimously.

A. R. Sherwood presided at the meeting, which was called for the specific purpose of choosing officers. The election of officers resulted as follows: Honorary president, Premier Tolmie; president, F. J. Crowhurst; vice-president, A. R. Sherwood; secretary, Mrs. A. Tomlinson; executive, H. J. Lingham, J. W. Spence, E. J. Seymour, J. W. Fletcher, Miss Hazel Fletcher and E. E. A. Williams.

New Milk By-Law Heard by Council
Regulations to control the sale of milk and cream and their derivatives for human use within the municipality of Saanich, were set out in a by-law submitted for consideration at the Saanich Council meeting last night. Dr. David Berman, medical health officer, who prepared the by-law, read it to the councillors.

Sections dealing with unlawful sale of milk without licences and stipulations concerning the condition of barns are set out in the code, which is to be considered by an appointed committee consisting of Councillors Dennis Hoare, L. C. Hagan, W. F. Somers and Fred Borden. They will give the by-law full consideration at a meeting to be held with Dr. Berman.

JOURNALIST IS MOURNED

He joined The Colonist as telegraph editor, a position which he occupied for many years, with a brief period of absence as editor of The Nanaimo Herald. Returning to the telegraph desk of The Colonist, he carried on until a few years ago, when he transferred to the lighter labor of provincial editor, a post which he maintained until his death.

TOURED PROVINCE
He was for a number of years, prior to joining The Colonist, employed in various editorial capacities in Vancouver, Nelson, Roseland and other British Columbia centres. He first came to the Coast in the early '90s as editor of The Victoria Times, an office he held for a number of years under the proprietorship of Hon. William Templeman. He left this office to widen his knowledge by personal contact with the problems of the province.

Mr. Houston was born near Paisley, Bruce County, Ontario, a son of one of the pioneer families of that famous section of Canada. His early education was obtained in the local schools and at the superior schools at Greenock and at the Ontario Normal School. On graduation from the latter, he taught school for a time before entering upon newspaper work. The Globe, where he worked on The Toronto Globe, upon which his brother William held a responsible position. William later became editor of that same newspaper, and Robert occupied the position of telegraph editor.

CAME WEST
He was later induced by an adventurous spirit to "go West" and he came to Winnipeg, where he was recognized as one of the leading newspapermen of Western Canada. It was here, in 1891, that Mr. Templeman met him and persuaded him to come to Victoria.

More than thirty years ago he took up residence at the New England Hotel and occupied the same room in that hotel until a few weeks ago, when the management induced him to move to one where he would not have as many steps to climb.

Quiet, retiring and kindly, "Bob" Houston did not have an enemy. He was always ready to assist his fellow workers in their labors or listen to the troubles of some junior member of the staff. His interest in everything about the office was keen and his judgment on problems of newspaper work sound. His knowledge of Canadian news and affairs during the past half-century was unique and of extreme value.

He took a quiet interest in athletics and an active interest in fishing and hunting. A lover of the outdoors, he spent his holidays for many years in the Sooke Hills, and particularly delighted in the companionship of the late John Cragg, of Leechtown.

VISITED EAST
Last year, following the death of his brother William, who also worked to the end on the editorial staff of The Globe, Mr. Houston spent two months in Eastern Canada, visiting his relatives and old friends.

"It will be the last time I'll ever see them," he commented as he bade adieu to some of his colleagues who wished him bon voyage. Two brothers, John and Henry, survive him in Eastern Canada, while Miss Margaret Houston, a grandniece, who makes her home with A. H. Sutherland, 2800 Denison Drive, a relative by marriage, is his closest kin in British Columbia. A cousin, John Young, resides in Vancouver, and a nephew, Hon. J. H. Spence, K.C., resides in Toronto.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock, from Sands Undertaking Parlors to Royal Oak Cemetery. Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilton will officiate, assisted by J. K. Unsworth.

PORTO ALLEGRE, Brazil, Sept. 22.—Dr. Borges de Medeiros, former President of the State of Rio Grande do Sul, and several other important leaders of the Sao Paulo rebellion, were taken prisoner by the Federal troops after a four-hour battle at Cerro Alegre, reports received today said.

Irish Farmers Are Irate With Leader Over Land Annuity

Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., Returns From Vacation in Old Country With Interesting Views on Political and Commercial Events There

"The people who voted De Valera into power will send him down to defeat by an overwhelming majority the first time an opportunity is afforded them at the polls," Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., stated while discussing the Irish Free State situation in an interview with The Colonist on his return here yesterday from the Old Country.

Mr. Hayward and his son, Reginald, Jr., spent three weeks in Dublin and near Athy, where his relatives live. Mingling with the people there he found a definite turn against De Valera by the farming element that elected him to office.

"The farmers supported De Valera when promised immunity from payment of British land annuities. When Great Britain, after arbitration failed, took steps to raise the tariff against Free State goods in retaliation, the farmers were hard hit," Mr. Hayward stated.

ARE HARD HIT

"They were the first to feel the effect of the British import duties against Irish Free State products. But when

REGINALD HAYWARD, M.P.P.

De Valera sought to retaliate also by raising a tariff against British goods, they were hit worse. They seem to have been caught coming and going. De Valera said markets could be developed elsewhere, but apparently so far no new markets have been opened and the farmers are intensely dissatisfied. The marketing of their livestock and farm produce is not far short of giving it away. The farmers, who put De Valera into office, have been hard hit. They know who is the cause and are determined to remove the trouble," Mr. Hayward said.

Speaking of the troubled times in Southern Ireland, Mr. Hayward said that people there never think of turning on the lights in their homes at night without first putting up the heavy shutters and barring them. "When they did this in the home of the relatives I was visiting, I asked them why they took such precautions. Their answer was 'We have been shot at before and the light makes a good target of us.'"

SITUATION DANGEROUS
"We spent two weeks in Scotland. As one landed there a feeling of foreboding that existed in the Irish Free State lifted. One felt freer. There was no danger of assaults. My brother's petrol tank had been pierced several times by bullets fired at his car and now, with feeling against De Valera becoming more intense, the situation is once again becoming perilous with citizens of definite political views."

The rest of the holiday was spent in London. Mr. Hayward had this to say of both England and Scotland:

"I found a very good feeling existing in connection with conditions of the times. The people are quite optimistic. One seldom hears anybody complain about hard times. I never saw people who took so many economic knocks so cheerfully as the British people. Taxes are high; much higher than they are here, yet one does not hear much complaint. The attitude seems to be that the country needs the money; that the country is up against it and they must come through in order to pull the country through the depression. Just to give you an idea of the high taxation, I might mention that the gasoline tax there is 16 cents a gallon, and the price is equivalent to 32 cents a gallon in Canada."

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE
Regarding the Imperial Conference, Mr. Hayward said that the people at no time felt the session would be a failure. They felt there would be a lot of jockeying for position first, but that in the end their statesmen would return with something definite accomplished. They seemed happy over the outcome, and the present criticism now reads in the papers is merely party leaders playing politics. Their views are not representative of the masses. The general opinion is that every one should get behind the agreements that have been reached and make them a success. One is bound to come in contact with adverse criticism if any is prevalent, but I heard little criticism regarding the conference in England."

RUSSIAN LUMBER
When asked regarding the importation of Russian lumber, Mr. Hayward said there were several factors that entered into this. Chief among them, however, was that British Columbia mills did not seem to meet the requirements of the British building trade. Their measurements of lumber there were based on cut lumber and not on lumber before cut. That is to say, a piece of two by four was two inches by four inches when cut and ready at the time of being marked out for cutting. Of course, the freight rates and Russian slave labor operated against British Columbia lumber industries, he stated.

Mr. Hayward was loud in his praises of British Columbia House, and told of the valuable work that was being carried on there in connection with sending capital and settlers to this country. The settlers chosen were of the type who had money of their own to invest, he declared.

Dealing with the local political situation, Mr. Hayward said that the Union Government idea was one he himself had suggested. He said he had suggested it in the House of Commons last September, and he did not think the Premier showed any signs of weakness in endeavoring to form a Union Government. It would restore an atmosphere of confidence, he said, which was so essential in times like the present.

FORMER ESQUIMALT HOTELKEEPER DIES

Frank Ledingham, for many years a hotelkeeper in Esquimalt, passed away Thursday morning at St. Joseph's Hospital, aged seventy-four years. Mr. Ledingham was born in Scotland and came to Victoria forty years ago. On his retirement from business he moved to Keating, where he had been residing for some time.

The funeral will take place on Saturday at 2 o'clock from the Sands Mortuary Ltd. Chapel, and the remains will be laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

ESQUIMALT RESIDENT DIES

The death occurred yesterday, at her home, 1228 Effingham Street, Esquimalt, of Clara Nash, wife of Henry C. Nash. Born in England, Mrs. Nash came to Canada nine years ago, making her home in Esquimalt for the past seven years. At the time of her death she had reached the age of seventy-two years. She is survived by her husband, in Victoria; two sons, Ernest James in Spokane and Clifford in Winnipeg; and by four daughters, Mrs. L. Spark and Mrs. N. Reid in Toronto, Mrs. H. Carpenter in Montreal and Mrs. Orlene Borden in Australia. A brother, George Stokes, resides in Keating and a sister, Mrs. A. M. Fraser, in Victoria. The funeral service will be held at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel on Monday at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made at Royal Oak Burial Park.

CALL BY DEATH

There passed away Thursday morning at his home, 521 Cecil Road, John Kerr, aged fifty-five years. Born in Glasgow, Scotland, he had been a resident of this city for twenty-eight years. He is survived by his widow, at home; his mother and five sisters in Scotland. The late Mr. Kerr had been employed by the B.C. Electric Railway for twenty years. The funeral will take place on Saturday, at 3:30 o'clock, under the auspices of the Amalgamated Association of Street & Electric Railway Employees of America, Local Union No. 109, at the Sands Mortuary Ltd. Chapel. Rev. J. G. Switzer will officiate, and the remains will be laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

BANK MANAGER TURNED BANDIT

Supposed Confederate in Robbery Was Special Policeman

WINDSOR, N.S., Sept. 22 (CP).—A Hants County jury last night convicted Sydney A. Rafuse, former bank manager, on two charges of conspiring and attempting to rob the Royal Bank branch at Shubenacadie. On a third charge, of attempting to wound a police officer, Rafuse was acquitted.

The verdict climaxed one of the most dramatic court cases of the Nova Scotia Supreme Court.

Rafuse entered the bank and discussed insurance with Manager W. P. Robertson. Gerald Freckleton and Edson Boutiller followed a few minutes later and ordered the staff to "stick 'em up." Freckleton was shot dead by police. Boutiller was wounded.

Following the shooting, police had refused to disclose the source of information that they enabled them to frustrate the plot.

But at Rafuse's trial Boutiller appeared as a Crown witness, declaring he had "spotted off" the police, had been appointed a "special officer" for the day, had driven to the bank with Freckleton in a car carried by the police and had carried a gun supplied by police.

LAID TO REST

A large number of friends attended the funeral of James Hamilton, which took place on Thursday afternoon. Rev. H. P. S. Luttrell conducted the service. Interment was made at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Purdy, D. McPherson, A. McDonald, G. Piller, J. McConnell and J. Hill.

FUNERAL TODAY

The funeral of Emma Caroline Glover will take place this afternoon at 3 o'clock from McCall Bros. Funeral Home. Rev. J. B. Rowell will conduct the service, after which interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

HUNTING BY-LAW

A by-law prohibiting the discharge of firearms in Wards Two, Three and Seven and portions of Wards One and Four was given preliminary readings at a meeting of the Sancho Council last night.

The regulation is unchanged from the former by-law, with the exception that it enlarges the area of prohibition.

Art Masterpiece Is Inspected by Thousands Here

THE hand-carved Grande Croix Byzantine, monumental work of P. A. Graham, of Mount Douglas, which has been on exhibition at the Victoria Public Library since Monday, is attracting thousands of visitors.

There has been an average of approximately seven hundred persons a day visit the library to view this masterpiece of art, which took twenty years to complete. Everyone who has seen it has remarked about the patience that has been shown by the artist in his work, while the comments are many and varied regarding the work itself. Generally the carving has won the approbation of those who have seen it.

SCHOOL TEACHERS HOSTS TO PARENTS

Metropolitan school teachers were hosts to 100 parents and friends of Sunday school pupils at a special "at home" held in the schoolroom last evening. Rev. E. F. Church gave an interesting address on "Teaching Religion in the Church School," and Rev. J. H. A. Warr conducted the devotional part of the programme.

The schoolroom was decorated with flowers and the guests sat at small, decorated tables. Musical entertainment was furnished by the following artists: Frederick Wright, Miss LePage, Mrs. H. Johns and Miss S. Harper. Refreshments were served by the members of the teaching staff.

OFFICE RAIDED; PAIR ARRESTED

T. Cresswell and H. Yewdall Charged With Operating Gambling House

City detectives headed by Detective Inspector Jack McEellan raided an office in the Bank of Toronto Building yesterday and arrested Hyman Yewdall and Thomas A. Cresswell on charges of being keepers of a common betting house.

Detective William Stark, Charles Gremer and Jack Rogers, who participated in the raid, confiscated a large quantity of alleged gambling paraphernalia, claimed to be of the type largely used by bookmakers on racetracks and in private betting establishments.

It is claimed by the police that the accused were operating a betting office and that scouls were used to make contacts on the outside.

The pair was released last night in bail of $100 each.

Growers Apply For Extension of Tax Payment

Reeve William Crouch, and the municipal clerk and solicitor of Saanich were appointed a committee to consider the application of the Kestring Co-operative Fruit Growers' Association for a thirty-day extension of time for tax payment before collection of the penalty amount, at a meeting of the council last night.

The application was made some time ago, when the organization requested the extension of time for its members, who had been unable to collect money due from them from the harvest of this year's crops. It was referred to the municipal solicitor for legal advice, the reply being that the council had no discretion in the matter.

Members of the council expressed themselves as being in sympathy with the organization and willing

BABY RESCUED FROM ANTS

How Mr. and Mrs. M. Davey, missionaries, saved a baby from death by ants has been reported from Liberia. Davey and his wife were traveling through Liberia when they heard a baby crying. They discovered a tiny infant fastened to the top of an ant heap. Mrs. Davey returned the child in a year.

leaved and cuddled the mite, while her husband went to the native huts near by and investigated. The child's father said the mother had died when the baby was born, and so the people thought there was a curse upon it. They consulted a witch doctor, who said that it must be fastened to the ant heap and there left to its fate. Davey persuaded the father it was Heaven's will that it should not die, or else his feet would not have been guided to the place. He finally obtained the consent of the man to take the child with him after promising to return the child in a year.

Face and Neck Covered With Pimples. Healed by Cuticura.

"My face and neck were completely covered with pimples. They came out in hard, red blotches and itched and burned. I scratched them. They kept getting sorer and redder, and festered and scalded over. They lasted about a year. I used so many different remedies but they did not help me. I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and got relief after using them. I purchased more and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Leola Vidito, R. R. 3, Middleton, N. S.

Fine on the Palate—Easy on the Pocket

There are no better Ports made in Australia than EMU 999 (Rich Tawny) and EMU 444 (Rich White). These wines are very popular in the Old Country; throughout Canada; and in many other parts of the Empire. They are the same as which all other Australian Ports are judged. When you try EMU you will be agreeably surprised to find that such excellent Port can be produced within the Empire. Yet, EMU Ports are easy on the pocket. You can buy them at a much lower price than foreign Ports of equal quality because of the tariff preference under the Canada-Australia Trade Agreement.

DRINKS GERM WATER
Don Indalecio Prieto, who rose from plumber to Minister of Public Works for Spain, and as noted for his jokes on himself, brought back to us a slow train in which he was traveling stopped at a little station, the minister took a long draught of water which was offered for sale on the platform. No sooner had he sipped his thirst than a deputation of village elders came along, hat in hand. They presented the minister with a petition for funds to overhaul the local water supply. "The water is so bad," they complained, "that many have died of typhoid!"

NOT PLEASED WITH REPORT

Tom Moore Expresses Disappointment at Portions of Duff Report

OTTAWA, Sept. 22 (CP).—Certain features of the Duff report will be a great disappointment to railroad workers generally, according to Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and a director of the Canadian National Railways.

In a statement given to the Canadian Press, Mr. Moore said: "The Duff Commission's report will be a great disappointment to railroad workers generally inasmuch as it apparently has failed to submit any concrete recommendations to enable the railroads to overcome the unfair competition of motor road transport, use of canal and other forms of competitive transportation that have done so much during the past few years to reduce the earning capacity of the steam railways."

"The reasons for the suggested abolition of the present directorate and the substitution of three trustees will be eagerly awaited. On the surface it would appear as though the commission took no notice of the splendid record in bringing about a reduction of expenses commensurate with the earning power of the Canadian National Railways, already accomplished under the present form of administration."

"With the proposal to make appointments for a fixed term, only one time, organized labor is in agreement. Whatever the size of the new administration may ultimately be, Labor will press for continuation of labor representation."

"By this means labor has learned that it can best develop cooperation with management, thus strengthening harmonious relations and developing policies of common good and mutual advantage."

Ratepayers Protest Action of Council; Complaint Unfounded

Following a protest from Ward Seven ratepayers, the municipal clerk was instructed by resolution, at last night's meeting of the council, to inform the ratepayers that all water accounts of Sanich have been carefully considered by the water committee, and that all persons had been notified in accordance with the council's instructions. Any who had, as a result of the receipt of the notice, communicated with the office, had received every consideration, the resolution stated; and further, that the council regrets the statements made at public meetings and reported in the press of contemptuous action, which has no foundation in fact.

Councillor Dennis Hoare stated that those who had ignored the water notices had the service discontinued, and they numbered very few.

The protest was made at a meeting of the ratepayers, who were consulted by Miss Hanman, who has over twenty years' practical experience in the treatment of these disfigurements. Such blemishes are unsightly and unnecessary, and they most certainly detract from the charm of any face, no matter how handsome or beautiful. 503 Sayward Building. Phone G 7642.

Assault Charges—In the Sanich court yesterday George McRae was charged with having unlawfully assaulted James E. Jones, causing actual bodily harm. Mr. Jones laid a counter-charge but varied it somewhat by classifying the alleged offence as common assault. The hearing was adjourned for a week. Gordon Cameron appeared for Mr. McRae.

Water Supply Reduced—Notice has been given from the Sanich Municipal Hall that owing to adjustment of mains, the water supply in the held in Port Angeles, will be reduced from next Tuesday, at midnight, to approximately 6 a.m. Thursday. All residents, particularly those residing on higher levels, are advised to store a supply of water sufficient for not less than thirty hours.

Helps Port Angeles—Premier T. M. Miller, Mayor Leonard and A. E. P. P. of the British Columbia Good Roads Association, urged that the convention of the organization next year be held in Port Angeles, and that a visit be paid to Victoria. This action is taken in order to assist Port Angeles in its drive to secure the convention.

ABBOTT TO PILOT PORTLAND AGAIN

PORTLAND, Sept. 22.—Spencer Abbott, manager of the league-leading Portland Baseball Club, will be pilot of the Beavers again next year. The signing of the contract was announced by Tom Turner, president of the club, who described the manager as the "type of manager who will lead the club to victory."

Abbott first took the Beavers Ducks leadership at the start of the 1931 season. The year before Portland ended the season in last place. Last year the club finished second in the first half of the season and fourth in the second half. This year it is leading the league and seems set for its first pennant in eighteen years.

SPOKEN WORD IS UNDER REVIEW

The studio of the Victoria School of Expression was crowded to capacity last evening for the formal opening of the season.

Visitors were welcomed by Captain and Mrs. W. H. Ord, who presided at 7 o'clock. Mrs. Ord commenced an informal talk on the work of the school, stressing the fact that the spoken word has been neglected ever since the invention of printing, and making a strong plea for the inclusion of speech training in the education of young people.

Reference was made to the connection between speech and song. The singer who did not study diction and expressive speech remained uninteresting, however fine the voice, said Mrs. Ord. The work done for speech defects was referred to.

The second part of the programme consisted of a dramatic story told by Mrs. Ord, who held her audience in tense interest as she unfolded the story of a wretched failure who became a successful actor.

The story was full of psychological truth, fascinatingly presented. The simplicity and naturalness with which the tale was told revealed the artistry of the narrator.

DEGRASSE AND HUAT IN DRAW

Fast Fifteen-Round Bantamweight Bout Even—Decision Well Received

MONTREAL, Sept. 22.—Fifteen rounds of fast action between Eugene Huat, of France, and Pete Degrasse resulted in a draw here last night. The two men are bantams, but fought at catchweights.

The bout was a return match after an encounter a few weeks ago when the judges gave the decision to Degrasse and the decision was reversed by the Boxing Commission.

After tonight's battle, two judges called it a draw and the other gave the edge to Degrasse. In general the decision was well received by the crowd.

Huat's supporters thought the French lad took too much punishment in the first seven rounds in waiting for a chance to land a right cross and finish the fight. Degrasse piled up so many points in the first half of the bout that Huat was unable to come through for a win.

Huat floored Degrasse in the seventh round with a left hook to the jaw. Degrasse refused to get up. He scrambled to his feet at once and sailed in again. Huat gained some advantage in the eighth and ninth, but Degrasse came back in the next two rounds.

In the fourteenth, Huat again looked the best and the gong probably saved Degrasse from a knock-out. The tireless young Indian came out strong in the last round, however, and at the end both were obviously weary. Huat weighed 117 1/2 pounds and Degrasse 120 1/4.

Major MacDonald Elected Head of Badminton Club

The annual meeting of the Willows Badminton Club was held at the Oak Bay Municipal Hall recently and was attended by about fifty members. The following committee was elected for the season: President, Major J. C. MacDonald; vice-president, Lieut-Col. R. S. Worley; secretary-treasurer, J. P. Phillips; committee, Major H. C. Jones, Colonel Pepler, W. R. Corfield, Mr. Hodgins, Mrs. Stern, Miss Jackson.

Col. R. S. Worley, on his resignation after four years as honorary secretary-treasurer, was made the club's first life member in appreciation of his untiring efforts on behalf of the club. Colonel Phillips was also tendered a vote of thanks on his resignation as president. The club courts will be open for play on October 1. It is expected that the club will have a record membership this year.

Five Ice Teams May Operate in Prairie Circuit

EDMONTON, Sept. 22.—There will be a five-team professional hockey league operated in Western Canada, according to an announcement made here tonight by Gordon B. "Duke" Keats, Edmonton hockey star and promoter.

According to Keats, who said the league was a certainty and that adequate financial arrangements were being made in the West, Regina, Saskatoon, Moose Jaw, Calgary and Edmonton will have teams.

It was announced that Joe Gannuloh, Saskatoon, would be in charge of a team in that city; that a company had been organized to back the Moose Jaw club; that Lloyd Turner, well-known sportsman of Calgary, was behind the entry from that city, and that Keats had organized a company to give financial support to the Edmonton aggregation.

A. J. TAYLOR HEADS BADMINTON CLUB

CUMBERLAND, Sept. 22.—At a meeting of the Whitby Badminton Club held last night, arrangements were made for the start of the season. Officers elected included: A. J. Taylor, president; J. Ledingham, vice-president; C. V. Danda, Jr., secretary; W. B. Brice, Gordon, treasurer; executive committee will be Misses F. Sehl and T. A. Galloway and W. Whyte and T. R. B. Graham.

A new committee to be known as the hall committee was chosen consisting of W. Hutchinson, R. A. Robertson and B. A. Robertson. The club will use the Band Hall as its former years and play nights will be Mondays and Wednesdays of each week.

BRANCH TO GIVE SPECIAL CONCERT

Monte Carlo Night Will Give Place to Attractive Programme of Good Music

The Monte Carlo night which was to be held by the members of the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion, has been postponed indefinitely, it was announced at a meeting of the ways and means committee held last evening, and in its place a special concert will be held in either the Shrine auditorium or the Empress Hotel. This concert will be one of the finest ever staged by the branch, and will take place during the week of November 11.

All smoking concerts held during the winter will be augmented with competitions. Percy Payne occupied the chair at the meeting.

Alberta By-Election Set for October 25

EDMONTON, Sept. 22 (CP).—Camrose by-election will be held October 25, Premier John Brownlee of Alberta has announced. The Provincial by-election was necessitated by the death last July of Hon. Vernon W. Smith, Minister of Railways and Telephones, who represented Camrose constituency for a number of years.

A communication from Reeve S. Musallam, of Maple Ridge, asking support of a movement protesting the recent increase in the price of gasoline, caused by imposition of Federal Government taxes, was endorsed by the Sanich Council at its meeting last night.

Reeve William Crouch expressed the opinion that the present price of gasoline was too high, and if a move of this kind might lower it, suggested the council lend its support. Other members expressed themselves in a similar manner.

During the meeting a delegation of unemployed attended in protest held on Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Anglican Young People

St. Mark's

A successful business meeting of St. Mark's Senior A.Y.P.A. was held in the parish hall, Tennyson Road, Wednesday evening, Miss Hazel Fletcher, president, in the chair.

At the opening of the session Rev. Owen L. Jull, vicar, gave a very interesting address, entitled, "The Divinity of Our Lord." The Junior A.Y.P.A. accepted Mr. William Butts as its badminton convener and Mr. E. Harman as softball convener. Applications for membership were received from Misses M. McMillan and P. Andrews, and J. Munn and Charles Kirchin. Application forms are being sent out by time for next meeting, these to be filled in and signed by all members of the branch already initiated, and to be used in the future by all applicants. A badminton team is being entered in the City Church League. A dance will be held on Friday, October 14, at the parish hall. The next meeting, which will be a programme one, will be held on Wednesday, October 5.

St. Alban's

The first meeting of the 1932-33 season was held by the St. Alban's A.Y.P.A. at the home of Miss Lenora Trickett, with ten members present. The president welcomed two newcomers to the A.Y.P.A. The programme for the coming year was discussed and plans were made for a dance to be held on Friday, October 14. An invitation from St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. to attend a party was cordially accepted.

St. Luke's

An interesting meeting of St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. took place last Tuesday evening, with a record attendance. The feature of the evening was a talk on debating by Mr. Buck, of the Victoria High School staff. Next Tuesday evening will be the birthday party of St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. and a good attendance is expected.

ESQUIMALT UNITED Y.P.A.

The Esquimalt United Young People's Society held its first meeting for this season at the home of Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Brown, South Turner Street. Mr. A. Goodwin presided. It was decided to hold a concert at the end of next month. This was left in the hands of a committee which included Mr. and Mrs. Hughes and Miss Mona Morgan. It was decided to purchase a new stove. The weekly meeting will be held on Wednesday. The new officers elected were: President, Mr. Gordon Carless; vice-president, Mr. A. Goodwin; secretary, Mrs. Hughes; treasurer, Miss Marjorie Roode; welcome committee, Miss Morgan and Mr. Hughes, and publicity, Miss Mona Morgan. The meeting was brought to a close with the serving of refreshments by Mrs. Brown, assisted by Mrs. Goodwin.

The Weakening Agony of Piles (Haemorrhoids) Ended

Thousands Bless This Famous Herbal Ointment

Piles or hemorrhoids cause excruciating pain and often serious loss of blood. The famous Zam-Buk ointment is wonderfully soothing to the swollen veins and itching parts. Zam-Buk derives its healing and mildly astringent influence from herbal extracts of special value in this weakening and agonizing complaint. Zam-Buk has a wonderful record of success.

THE BEST OF PROOF

Mrs. R. L. Garber, of 2545 Ohio Avenue, Southgate, California, a nurse, writes as follows: "My husband suffered from piles for years, but a year ago they reached an acute stage and he could neither sleep nor attend his work. He had medical advice, tried all sorts of baths, hot packs, ointments and ointments which cost him hundreds of dollars without obtaining any relief. Finally a friend sent him a box of Zam-Buk; after application for a few days he obtained complete relief. He continued the treatment and by the time he had finished a second box he was completely relieved of this agonizing ailment and able to resume his work."

Mrs. F. Barrett, Pioneer, Alberta, writes: "We have used Zam-Buk ever since I was a young girl and I have never known it fail. My husband, who has been troubled with itching piles for years, says the soothing relief Zam-Buk brought was wonderful."

The unparalleled success of Zam-Buk lies in its original and valuable formula. Zam-Buk is compounded from certain herbal extracts of an extraordinarily healing, soothing and antiseptic nature. Zam-Buk soon stops all pain and itching. It gets at the root of such troubles as eczema, salt rheum, bad legs, ulcers, scald disease, poisoned sores, etc., and is also a fine ever-ready first-aid for injuries. New Beauty Brought To Philco Tone and Proven Performance

Latest Models of Philco Incorporate Electro-Dynamic Speakers of New Principle—Co-ordination Brings Tonal Quality of a Standard Unreached in Previous Years

THE chief reason why Philco stands out as such a superb instrument is because Philco engineers have made a scientific study, over a period of years, of every factor having to do with tone. They have developed and co-ordinated designs of cabinets, baffles, loudspeakers, receivers and tubes, so that all components work together to give the best possible over-all performance.

The resultant natural full-toned action. Also, the double layer voice coil construction, originated by Philco, combines sturdiness with minimum weight in this important tone-transmitting member. The complete cone, although mechanically strong, is extremely light in weight, so that it can be moved easily by weak signals to give a pleasing tone.

FINE IMPROVEMENT
This advance in reproduction is further enhanced in the famous Philco "X" models. In the development of these "X" models, the Philco laboratory has made a definite and valuable improvement in the reproduction of sound. This improvement is distinctly noted even by untrained ears. Not only is the general quality of tone more natural, more perfectly like the original broadcast, but the high notes and the low notes are retained with such completeness, that the full register of broadcast music is heard as never before on any radio.

Many details of engineering have been worked out to contribute to the remarkable sound reproduction of these models, and no one thing is the determining factor in this Philco, the first radio scientifically designed throughout as a musical instrument of quality.

De Forest Crosley Presents Entirely New Empire Series

Class "B" Twin-Push Amplification Brings Power in Reserve With Perfect Reception at Any Volume—Eleven Major Features Incorporated in Sensational New Line

RADIO fans have eagerly awaited the announcement of the new De Forest Crosley models, and with the arrival of the new "Empire Series" their greatest expectations have been realized. Eleven major developments have placed De Forest Crosley among the front rankers in 1933 radio.

One of the most outstanding of these developments is the Class "B" twin-push amplification, making possible a tremendous reserve of undistorted power with resultant maximum of purity regardless of volume or pitch. The softest of soft tones, or the tremendous volume of a full symphony orchestra is recreated without variation or disturbance. Taking one instance, "The Surprise Symphony," by Handel, after a delightfully soft musical phrase there is suddenly introduced a tremendous chord in F which would inevitably be blurred beyond recognition.

In connection with the Class "B" twin-push amplification come triple triode drivers, the finest co-ordination in complementary units that engineering skill can develop. The greatest efficiency and protection from overloading is guarded against.

HIGH QUALITY

Consistently high quality all through the line is the ideal behind the Empire series. Twin Pentode tubes throughout bring to the lower priced sets a power and beauty only possible through the generous supply of undistorted power. Strength is increased through co-operation, and this is illustrated in the new 1932 R.P. and A.P. Pentode of full power under full control. True bi-aural response is assured through the arrangement of the matched dual speakers. These are mounted horizontally and are so placed as to give properly balanced tone. No quality is lost through reflections, interaction, absorption, etc. In the past, superheterodyne meant silence; which brings new pleasure to tuning. Automatic volume control is now introduced by De Forest Crosley as a standard feature on all models throughout the new series. The visual tuning pilot is a small, Saint Thasius Cyprianus was the great leader of the early African church.

Seventeen-Year-Old Star of the Air

ANDREA MARSH
At the age of seventeen Andrea Marsh became a radio star, making a hit with her radio audience while broadcasting with Ted Weems' orchestra over the Columbia network. Her real name is Andrea Marsh, but she changed it recently because it was the same as that of another featured radio singer.

Philco, combines sturdiness with minimum weight in this important tone-transmitting member. The complete cone, although mechanically strong, is extremely light in weight, so that it can be moved easily by weak signals to give a pleasing tone.

FINE IMPROVEMENT
This advance in reproduction is further enhanced in the famous Philco "X" models. In the development of these "X" models, the Philco laboratory has made a definite and valuable improvement in the reproduction of sound. This improvement is distinctly noted even by untrained ears. Not only is the general quality of tone more natural, more perfectly like the original broadcast, but the high notes and the low notes are retained with such completeness, that the full register of broadcast music is heard as never before on any radio.

LA FOLLETTE OF WISCONSIN LOSES

Faction Suffers Severe Setback—Fails to Obtain Important Renominations

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (CP).—The long dominant La Follette faction in Wisconsin suffered its most serious setback in Tuesday's Republican primary. Both Governor Philip F. La Follette and Senator John J. Blaine were defeated for renomination. Republican voters, in choosing former Governor Walter J. Kohler as their gubernatorial nominee, administered the first defeat to La Follette in forty years. Late returns today showed the Governor trailing by about 100,000 votes. Blaine, the second Independent candidate for the Senatorial nomination, John I. Chapple, Smith W. Brookhart was beaten in the Iowa primary last Spring.

Hudson's Bay Company Radio Show

PROMINENT LINES ARE REPRESENTED BY LATEST MODELS

Artistry and Beauty of Design Mark New Radios to Be Displayed Tomorrow—Third Floor of Hudson's Bay Company Store Holds Fine Exhibition

FOR the last few days great activity has prevailed in the radio department of the Hudson's Bay Company, and now all arrangements are completed for the big annual fall radio show which opens tomorrow. Scheduled to continue for the entire week, ending Saturday, October 1, this exhibition will afford the many visitors to the third floor of the Hudson's Bay Company store an opportunity to examine and compare the latest models of radios incorporating all the new developments of the year's work of research and design.

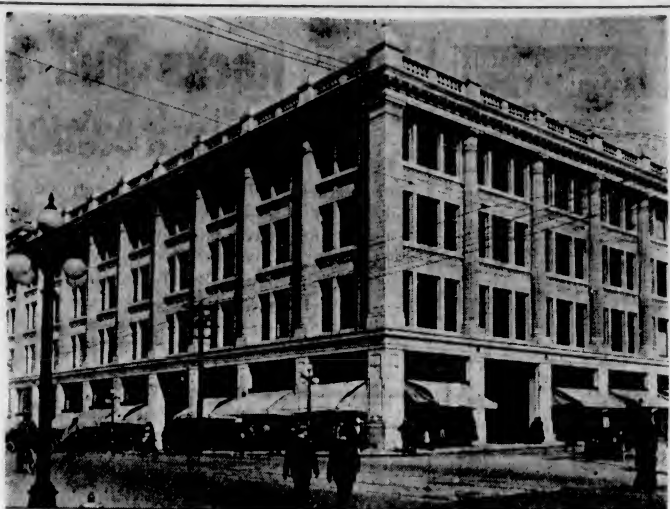

No effort has been spared to make this show outstanding in the matter of attractive decoration and tasteful display. The entire electrical department has been given over to the display of the different models of leading makes, ranging from the compact table and mantel set to the handsome console. Artistic new cabinet design marks the 1932 sets, that include amazing features of advance performance.

PHILCO FEATURED
Prominent among the sets displayed stands a full line of the Philco radio, featuring the sensational advance of "shadow tuning." This innovation is one that makes it possible to achieve absolute precision in tuning, through a shadow band that is thrown on a screen immediately above the station dial. As the station is approached the band contracts, reaching its narrowest dimension as the correct tuning is reached.

Throughout the new Victor models shown, the bi-acoustic feature has taken the world by storm, bringing tremendous improvement in tone to a name that has long been recognized as outstanding. New type tubes are used throughout, while the greatly improved dual-automatic volume control maintains the same volume, high or low, more effectively than ever before.

Big improvements have been incorporated in the Stewart-Warner models shown, one of the most salient features being the "quiet switch," which enables the operator to tune between stations without the accompanying "blast" of sound too often found in models lacking this device. The new line goes under the appropriate name of "The Stewart-Warner Magic Dial Radio."

Rogers Introduced At Recent Meeting Reaches Victoria

New Models Displayed Emphasize Advance in Design, Cabinet Beauty and Performance—Spray Shield Tubes Eliminate Clumsy, Inefficient Shielding "Cans"—Complete Line Shown

IT looks as if Mr. and Mrs. Canadian Radio Buyer will be obliged to learn some new technical terms during the next few months. That, at least, is the impression gained by the visitor to the gathering of radio men at a district meeting of the Rogers-Majestic Corporation, Limited, of Toronto, recently.

"Radio frequency pentodes," "class B amplification," "mercury vapor tubes," "duo-diode detection," "synchro-silent tuning," "2½-volt tubes," "autodyne modulator oscillator circuit"—these are a few of the expressions heard.

ADDRESS OF WELCOME
The address of welcome was delivered by A. H. Uppshart, Winnipeg manager of the Rogers-Majestic Corporation, Limited. This was followed by the formal presentation of the new radio models by Homer J. Zopf, general sales manager.

NEW CHASSIS PRESENTED
Three new chassis in the Rogers line were presented. First was an eleven-tube circuit with the new class "B" amplification, radio frequency pentodes, mercury vapor tubes, spray-shielding of tubes, and twin speakers. This circuit is used in a console of distinctive design and in an all-wave model to which a two-tube circuit has been added, making a total of thirteen tubes.

A new Rogers eight-tube chassis employs the new radio frequency pentodes, spray-shield tubes, improved automatic volume control, full-vision dial calibrated in kilocycles, full-range tone control and improved superheterodyne with special image suppressor system. This chassis is used in a console with two speakers, a mantel-type radio and in a lounge and short-wave set in which two extra tubes are employed.

SMALLEST CHASSIS
The smallest of the Rogers chassis uses a five-tube circuit. This is an autodyne oscillator modulator chassis using new 2½-volt radio frequency tubes, spray-shielding of tubes to eliminate the ordinary shielding "cans," full-vision illuminated dial calibrated in kilocycles and full-range tone control. The two largest types of Rogers chassis have an adjustable noise suppressor to eliminate noises while the set is being tuned, so there is no between-station interference.

A feature of the new Majestic radio is "synchro-silent" tuning, achieving silent tuning between stations through a new tube and advanced system of chassis design. Nine-tube Majestic with new radio frequency pentodes and automatic volume control will be available in a unique design highboy with two speakers, a lowboy with full-vision dial and mantel radio of semi-modern design.

USE ROGERS TUBES
Another line of Majestic has seven tubes, available in a mantel and lowboy with two speakers. Rogers radio tubes, developed and made in Canada since the first A-C radio sets were known through the ingenuity and inventions of Edward S. Rogers, are used in both Rogers and Majestic radio receiving sets.

Another product of the Rogers-Majestic Corporation on display during the convention was the Majestic electric refrigerator available in four and one-half, three and one-half and six cubic feet capacities. An exclusive rotary-pendulum type of compressor is employed.

PIONEERED IN RADIO SALES

Hudson's Bay Company Has Handled Sets Here Since Their Inception

Since the inception of radio as a commercial asset, the Hudson's Bay Company has been associated with sales and service. Today its up-to-date radio department differs very greatly from the small space allotted to the first crystal sets, in the days when radio was considered a mere inventor's hobby, enjoyable only to the initiated. Now, when radio is a vital necessity to the world of commerce, bringing pleasure to practically every home, the Hudson's Bay Company has one of the finest radio showrooms to be found anywhere, not only here but throughout Canada. Standing behind every sale is their reputation for service, and here in Victoria a competent staff of radioticians is maintained, including several graduates of the Institute of Radio Engineers. These experts are fully qualified to execute every class of radio repair and installation.

Typical of the service offered is the General Electric tube-testing equipment, installed in order that the patrons may have their radio tubes tested free of charge.

Bi-Acoustic Radio Is the New Victor Supreme Triumph

Famous Name Adds to Laurels in Reproduction of Tonal Quality—Feature Combined With "B" Amplification—Battery Sets Show Big Advance in Engineering Field

TONAL superiority that is recognized as readily by the man on the street as by the ear of the trained musician is the feature of Victor's new Bi-Acoustic radio, and will be the feature of the entire radio year.

Tone will always be the deciding factor in the enjoyment of radio, but it often is used more as a talking point than as something which strikes the listener as tangible.

Victor, of course, has long been noted for its quality of radio tone, but with the introduction of its exclusive Bi-Acoustic receivers tone takes on even greater importance.

TONAL DIFFERENCE
Of Bi-Acoustic radio, it may really be said that everyone will recognize a great difference in tone. The listener does not need to concentrate all his faculties to be aware of the superiority. It is apparent the instant the set is turned on.

We have seen radio improve steadily but gradually for years, but it took an entirely new instrument to achieve such a startling improvement. Bi-Acoustic radio features eight major advances, and not the least responsible for the raised standard of performance is the fact that new-type tubes are used throughout.

That and "B" amplification, with automatic tone compensator and tone equalizers, deal with the scientific and material reason for the improvement. The actual improvement in performance of this great twelve-tube receiver is the adding of two complete octaves to the superheterodyne range, the balance and proportion maintained over the entire range, the surplus power of "B" amplification, and the fact that at highest or lowest volume there is neither distortion nor loss of fidelity.

IMPORTANT FEATURE
Being able to hear every instrument in its true proportion with the set tuned to "whisper" volume is one of the most important features. Formerly loss of volume beyond a certain point meant loss of fidelity. With Bi-Acoustic radio this is not the case. And the greatly improved dual automatic volume control maintains the desired volume, high or low, more effectively than ever before.

Bi-Acoustic radio is available in three consoles, a twelve-tube receiver in a cabinet featuring the graceful half-door effect, and a ten-tube chassis in a choice of standard or de luxe console.

AUTOMOBILE SETS

There is no better example of the remarkable strides made by radio engineers than the new RCA Victor automobile and portable superheterodynes. Here are sets, taken with you wherever you go, that give performance and tone right in line with the standard of satisfaction you demand from the modern radio in your home.

In outlining the most important features of both the automobile and portable receivers, the point stressed particularly is automatic volume control, the remarkable tone quality and the fact that use of "B" amplification had reduced battery drainage to a negligible factor, at the same time giving the receiver four times the power.

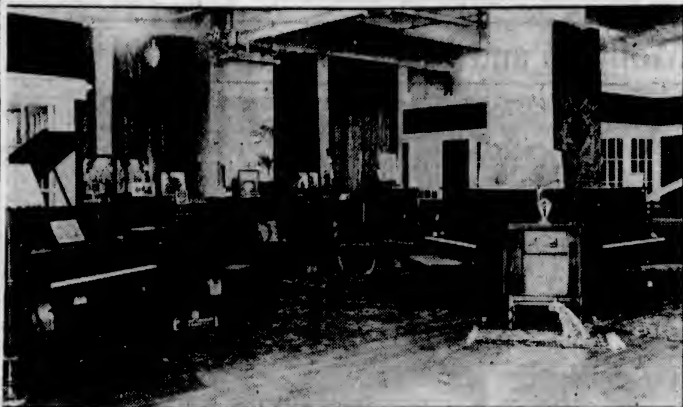

Victor's permanent magnet dynamic speaker is one of radio's most remarkable developments. It makes possible a tone never before achieved in a battery-operated set, and in neither model does it use any "A" or "B" battery current. This exclusive Victor speaker has had more to do with raising battery-operated standards than any other individual feature.

BRONX MAN CHARGED WITH USING MAILS TO PROMOTE LOTTERY

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Frank J. Manley, former Bronx County Court clerk, was indicted by the Federal Grand Jury today on a charge of using the mails to promote a lottery and of sending lottery tickets by express from New York to Pittsburgh, Pa., and Evansville, Ind.

The Government charges that from a Bronx office, Manley, known as M. Dugan, operated various lotteries, including the "Army and Navy Veterans of Canada," said at the Federal Building to have been the largest lottery ever operated in the Dominion.

are actual humorous tid-bits found in examination papers, essays, etc., by teachers.

The Olympic Games were kept on a high plane because there is no level ground in Greece.

Milk is chiefly bought in tins, but it also grows in coconuts and goats.

Eugenics is the science that teaches us how to pick out the right kind of parents.

Magic Dial Radio Is Stewart-Warner Latest Development

"Quiet" Switch Is Predominating Feature in Sets That Include Many Innovations—Reception and Cabinet Beauty Achieve High Standard Associated With Stewart-Warner

By offering a feature which permits the radio operator to tune between stations without the "blasting" common to ordinary sets, the new Stewart-Warner magic dial radio offers a striking sales point of decided importance.

ACTION OF SWITCH
In effect, the Stewart-Warner "quiet" switch barricades outside noises by reducing the extreme normal sensitivity of Magic Dial models below the point at which such noises can be heard. However, this action has no appreciable effect on the signals of local stations, the power of these being ample to penetrate the electrical barrier thus created by the switch action. For the same reason, this action also improves reception when a strong local station is tuned in. Noises that might otherwise be detected by the radio—if operated at maximum sensitivity—are eliminated.

COUNTERBALANCE
Magic Dial radios incorporate "A.V.C." (automatic volume control), an outstanding development of great importance to the long-distance broadcast and short-wave listener. When set at any given point, this control fixes the volume at which all stations will be heard. But, by means of the "quiet" switch, Stewart-Warner eliminates one objectionable feature of commonplace automatic volume controls. This is the tendency of the radio to be noisy between stations, and is caused by an instantaneous increase to maximum sensitivity when the dial is turned "off" a station signal. When the dial is moved "on" a station, the control again reduces sensitivity to the desired level, but the set again becomes noisy as the dial is moved forward or backward from this point. The new Stewart-Warner "quiet" switch insures uniform sensitivity, both "on" stations and between them. As its name implies, it does permit quiet tuning over the full range of the dial. The "quiet" switch eliminates noises between stations yet it does not interfere with outstanding reception, which has long been a feature of the Stewart-Warner radio models.

THREE GUARDS ARE FACING CHARGE OF SLAYING PATIENT

MAILLARDVILLE, Sept. 22.—Charges of causing grievous bodily harm to Otto Eggestad, Essondale Mental Hospital patient, on August 26, against three former attendants were changed to manslaughter yesterday.

The patient had five ribs broken during a struggle with the attendants and died in hospital on September 13. He also sustained internal injuries.

The three men are H. Malone, Maillardville; Archibald Lennox, Port Coquitlam; and Malcolm McDonald, Essondale. They appeared today in police court here before Magistrate F. G. Walker and were remanded on $5,000 bail.

Startling! Mysterious! Thrilling!

With LONG and SHORT wave circuits all combined in ONE chassis and under ONE control, you get an enchantment in Radio reception never before enjoyed.

STEWART-WARNER—first to produce simplified Round-the-World Radio, now crown their previous achievement with the Magic Dial, in a new Duo-Superheterodyne 11-Tube Radio with 8 times previous sensitivity. All of the 11 tubes being used in the short wave circuit, the whole world of radio entertainment is controlled with accuracy and certainty. You will get a new joy in listening to your favorite broadcasts and new adventure and romance in short-wave reception . . . police calls, broadcasts from aeroplanes, thrilling programs and messages from ships at sea and from foreign stations all over the world.

STEWART-WARNER "ROUND-THE-WORLD" Radio

New delight in quality of reception given by the perfected, quick-acting, Automatic Volume Control—so essential in short wave. It actually maintains a constant volume irrespective of possible "fading"; Vernier tuning; New Automatic Tone Control that accentuates bass notes at low volume.

Handsome Period Consoles and Table Cabinets—fine examples of master craftsmanship—the outward suggestion of quality throughout the superb Stewart-Warner radios. All finished with genuine Crystalac. Price range from $69.50 to $385.00.

MARINE and TRANSPORTATION

Forty Demands Were Drafted at Rally on Mainland Yesterday

Seamen and Marine Workers, Meeting in Vancouver, Ask Government Subsidy for Ship-owners and Fixed Wages for Sailors

VANCOUVER, Sept. 22 (CP).—A Seamen's Association, stated that from 1922-29, 411 ships were purchased abroad by Canadian owners to the value of $97,000,000; that before 1922, 170 ships were imported to the value of $27,000,000, and that there was $124,000,000 expended in construction of ships imported from Great Britain to the value of $98,000,000.

He claimed that up to the end of 1927 Canadian-owned ships, valued at $20,000,000, were built in the United States. Canadian shipyards are being dismantled and scrapped, throwing skilled engineers out of work and assuring only occasional work to others, he said. Lack of continuity of work makes it impracticable for the yards to train a sufficient number of apprentices, he added.

Amendment of Canadian coastwise laws was recommended so that no goods or passengers may be carried by water for the whole or any part of the transportation except in Canadian-built and registered ships. A 40 per cent duty on all British ships seeking registry in Canada to engage in foreign trade will be urged.

The Picture They Couldn't Praise Enough—
They came. They saw.
They were conquered.
Public and press alike have been lavish in their praise.

"Arrowsmith" Makes Bid as Season's Best Picture. "The New York World-Telegram" heralded the motion picture reproduction of Sinclair Lewis' Nobel Prize novel. Millions have already thrilled to its stirring drama, its tender romance, its virile realism. "Arrowsmith" is the most-talked-of picture today.
It is an experience everyone must live. You will be asked your opinion. See this great entertainment now.

Read what The Daily Mirror says:
"Sinclair Lewis' masterpiece... in an unusual film, a credit to its star and to the movie."

STAR DISPLAYED

Ronald Colman Has Leading Role in "Arrowsmith" at Empire Theatre

Portraying one of the most striking characters in modern American fiction, Ronald Colman comes to the screen of Empire Theatre today in the title role of "Arrowsmith,"
the motion picture which Samuel Goldwyn has made from the famous novel by Sinclair Lewis.
Thus Colman fans will again have an opportunity to see him returning to serious emotional impersonations, after his recent successes in the line of light comedy.

Ronald Colman has, however, displayed a great versatility in his long screen career, and played great varieties of parts since he first left the legitimate stage for motion pictures.

Supporting him in this transcription of Sinclair Lewis' master novel is a lengthy cast of famous names.
Opposite him is Helen Hayes, the stage star who triumphed recently on the screen in "The Sign of the Cross," and in major roles are Richard Bennett and A. E. Anson, both famous veterans of the legitimate stage for many years.

Myrna Loy, Alec B. Francis, Beulah
Bondi, Claude King, and Florence
Britton are other well-known players who contribute to "Arrowsmith."

DOMINION Movie fans who THEATRE haven't yet seen Arliss hit, "A Successful Calamity," are advised to visit the Dominion Theatre, where it is playing for the last times today. Supporting the famous star in his latest Warner Bro. film are such favorites of the screen as Mary Astor, Evelyn Knapp, Grant Mitchell, David
Torrence, William Janney, Barbara
Leonard, Richard Tucker, Randolph
Scott, Hale Hamilton, Harold Albright and Murray Kinnell.

PLAYHOUSE Francis X. Bushman, screen veteran THEATRE is prominently cast in the role of Canby in the merry Western comedy, "The Dude Wrangler," with a hilarious story centering about a "dude" cowboy. This spectacular production is now showing at the Playhouse Theatre. In it

ROMANO Ralph Ince, who is one THEATRE of the best bad men on the screen, steps out in type and plays a detective in RKO Radio Pictures' "The Lost Squadron," starring Richard Dix. Ince is one of the screen's pioneers. He has been in motion pictures fifteen years, serving both as a director and actor.

COLUMBIA Cohen and Kelly each THEATRE have a new wife in
"The Cohens and Kellys in Hollywood," the current attraction at the Columbia Theatre.
Cohen's wife this time is Emma Dunn, and Kelly's is Esther Howard, although Cohen and Kelly still continue to be the old boys. They are Charles Murray. Also on the same bill is Sylvia Sydney in "Street Scene."

A. E. Foreman Addresses
Rotarians on Evolution of Road Construction

"During the last twenty-five years there has been a greater development in highway traffic and road construction than during the eighteen centuries which preceded them," A. E. Foreman, of Vancouver, distinguished engineer of the Portland Cement Company, told members of the Rotary Club yesterday in an address on "The Evolution of Highway Traffic and Road Construction."

Mr. Foreman explained that in early days when all traveling was done by foot, condition of the highways caused little worry to officials or nations. The first good roads, he said, were constructed in Egypt by King Khops for the purpose of dragging the large stones to the sites of the pyramids.

ROMAN ROADS
Later, in the Romano era, he continued, the finest roads of the Old World were built, many of which are still in use today. These,
Mr. Foreman continued, were solidly constructed with a strong base, two or three feet below the surface, and were paved.

During the next several centuries, including the Dark Ages, Middle Ages and Feudal Period, there was little advance in road construction.
In fact, Mr. Foreman said, roads were actually destroyed during the Feudal Age. Towards the end of the eighteenth century greater interest was shown in the building of roads, and it was during this time that the famous Macadam roads were first built.

TRAFFIC INCREASES
Following this, chief advance in road construction centered in the United States, where the ever-increasing traffic demanded roads that would stand hard travel. It was found that Macadam asphalt was suitable for earlier vehicle traffic in America, the speaker said, but with the introduction of truck traffic, the asphalt base was destroyed. From 1904 to 1930 the number of trucks used in United States increased by millions, he said, and it was found necessary to take many details, previously not considered, into consideration.

Over a long period of years, he declared, during which tests were constantly being made in universities, the tarvis pavement of today came into use. The first of this to be laid in British Columbia was on Shelburne Street in 1916.

AN IMPORTANT ITEM
One of the chief items to consider in road construction was the cost of maintenance, and Mr. Foreman felt it would prove more satisfactory to build them to give service over a period of years, rather than give mileage. Millions of dollars are expended yearly in the United States for road maintenance, he stated.
In British Columbia, Mr. Foreman felt the tendency was to build roads more for mileage than years of service, adding that the province should benefit by the costly experience of other countries in this respect, particularly the United States.

Burgess Bedtime Stories
A Question Settled
—By THORNTON W. BURGESS—

Who for defence is rightly armed.
You'll find is very seldom harmed.
—Old Mother Nature.

Often in the Green Forest and in the Old Pasture there has been much argument as to who of all the creatures of the Green Forest, the Old Pasture and the Green Meadows is the better armed. Some have great teeth and claws. Some have great claws and hooked bills.
Some have neither, yet go and come as they please and are unafraid of even those many times their size. In the end it always comes down to a direct of opinion as to which are the better armed. Jimmy Skunk and the members of his family or Prickly Porky and the members of his family.

That was the question that was bothering Grunty, one of the little Possum's children. He had made the acquaintance of Inky, all-black son of Jimmy Skunk,
and Quilly, fretful son of Prickly Porky, and he had envied both in manner in which they were armed.
Which one he envied most he had found it hard work to decide.
Sometimes it was one and sometimes the other. You see, he could not make up his mind as to which was armed the best.

It wasn't until Farmer Brown's Boy happened to visit that part of the Green Forest that the question was settled. At least it was settled for Grunty. It was one afternoon Farmer Brown's Boy had come over to see what was new around the pond of Paddy the Beaver, and quite by chance he sat down under the very tree in which Grunty happened to be. He had been hunting about on the ground when Reddy Fox came along, and Grunty, seeing him in time, had climbed that tree. There he had remained and Farmer Brown's Boy had come along and sat down there to rest, and because he had long before found out that he who sits still often sees more of the little Forest and Meadow people than he who goes looking for them.

He hadn't been sitting there very long when who should appear but Grunty's two friends, Inky the young Skunk and Quilly the young Porcupine. The latter was fretting as usual. He waddled along to the edge of the water and began to drag out certain water plants, which he ate with evident enjoyment, although he kept up a fretful talk to himself even then.

Inky came wandering along, stopping every now and then to look for fat beetles, until at last he came to Farmer Brown's Boy under the tree. He came right up to him and sniffed at his foot. "That foot was moved a little and instantly Inky began to stamp and his tail went up as a warning. Farmer Brown's Boy laughed aloud and said:

"You little black imp!" said he.
"You can't bluff me. No, sir,
you can't bluff me. You father, Jimmy Skunk, and I have been friends too long for me to be bluffed by you. You are such a handsome little rascal that I have a notion to take you home with me.
You don't belong way over here in the Green Forest anyway. You must have wandered away. I saw your mother and the rest of the family the other evening and all the youngsters were about your age."

He spoke in a low, gentle tone and all the time he was very slowly reaching out with one hand toward Inky. In a moment or two his hand close on Inky's big tail and Inky was lifted off his feet by his tail. Grunty could hardly believe his eyes. Why didn't Inky tail him? He had seen Inky's big tail and Inky was lifted off his feet because once off his feet he couldn't very well. That was the reason.
The funny part was that Inky didn't seem to mind being picked up that way. Farmer Brown's Boy got up and walked towards Quilly.
As usual, Quilly ran to an old log near at hand and got his head under. Then with all his little spears, which are called quills, standing on guard, and with his tail lashing from side to side, he bade defiance to Farmer Brown's Boy. The latter would have liked to have caught him and taken him home, but he couldn't do it. No, sir, he couldn't touch Quilly. He could poke him with a stick, but that was all. He finally had to go off and leave him where he was,
but he took Inky with him.

All this Grunty saw and it settled a question in his mind. "Quilly is the better armed for defence," he decided. "Not even one of those two-legged creatures dares touch him."

The next story: "Reddy and Mrs.
Fox Lay Plans."

DELAYS HEARING ON EXTRADITION

Proceedings Against Charles and Ralph Walters Stand Over
Until Next Thursday

Extradition proceedings for the handing over of Charles E. Walters, former bank president, and his son,
Ralph Walters, to the authorities of the United States have been postponed.
Yesterday was set as the day for the taking of the evidence before Judge P. S. Lampman in the County Court. On the application of Stuart Henderson representing the two, the application was allowed to stand until Thursday, September 28, when he hoped to be in a position to agree upon a date for proceeding.
In the meantime His Honor set aside Thursday and Friday, October 6 and 7, as possible dates for the hearing if these dates are agreeable to counsel when the matter comes up again.
The two are charged in Auburn, Wash., with being implicated in financial irregularities.
Duralumin's principal ingredient is aluminum, which gives lightness, alloyed with copper, which gives strength.

FINAL REACHED IN WOMEN'S CITY GOLF TOURNEY

Jimmy Foxx Hits Two Home Runs to Raise Total to 56

A's Slugger Has Big Day With Willow—Now Four Short of Ruth's Record—Alvin Crowder Registers Twenty-Fifth Victory for Senators

AMERICAN LEAGUE

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22 (AP).—Jimmy Foxx had a day at bat that resembled some of the great feats of Babe Ruth, whose place as some run king he has usurped, but the Athletics couldn't hold the big lead he gave them, and New York Yankee came from behind to take a ten-inning decision, 8 to 7.

Foxx smashed his fifty-fifth home run with the bases full in the third inning and his fifty-sixth in the seventh frame with no one aboard. The two wallopers gave the A's a 7-3 lead and gave Foxx a tie with Hack Wilson for second place among the major league home-run hitters of all time, just four blows behind Ruth's great 1927 record of sixty circuit drives.

Eric McCall also hit for the circuit in the third inning to complete a five-run rally that drove Lefty Gomez, Yankee mound ace, from the hill.

The Yanks began their comeback in the eighth, also using the home-run route. With two out, Sam Byrd singled and Lou Gehrig slammed his thirty-third homer over the right-field wall. A hit by Lazzeri, Ruffing's pinch single and Chapman's double netted a third run. Myril Hoag tied the score in the ninth by lining a homer over the right-field wall.

Leroy Mahaffey, who replaced Tony Freitas in the ninth, was the victim of the winning rally. He gave two walks after Byrd opened with a single and Byrd came home while Jorgens was being tossed out at first.

R. H. E.
New York 8 12 0
Philadelphia 7 13 0
Batters: Freitas, Moore, Wadell and Dickey; Jorgens, Freitas, Mahaffey and Cochrane.

Twenty-Fifth Win
BOSTON, Sept. 22 (AP).—General Alvin Crowder, ranking right-hander of the Washington Senators, won his twenty-fifth straight game of the season today, and his fourteenth in succession, as Washington took the series final from the Red Sox, 4 to 3.

The victory gave the visitors a clean sweep of their four-game series, their last being a 3-2 win at home.

But for a home run by Roy Jackson in the first inning, Crowder probably would have scored a shutout. He allowed only four hits during the game.

H. R. E.
Washington 4 9 1
Boston 3 4 2
Batters: Crowder and Spencer; Durham, Welch and Jolley.
Chicago—Detroit, double-header, postponed; rain.
(Only game scheduled.)

NATIONAL LEAGUE
CHICAGO, Sept. 22 (AP).—Pittsburgh Pirates made it three in a row over the champion Cubs today, taking the final game of the series, 7 to 0. Young Hal Smith, purchased from Kansas City, gave the Bruisers but six hits as he blanked them.

Burleigh Grimes and Bob Smith pitched for the Cubs, and Grimes was pounded hard.

In the sixth inning Paul Waner doubled to right, for his fifty-ninth two-base hit of the season, thus tying Chuck Klein's National League record.

Pittsburgh 7 12 2
Chicago 0 6 0
Batteries: H. Smith and Pinney; Padden; Grimes, R. Smith and Taylor.

Dodgers Trim Giants
NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP).—Brooklyn Dodgers completed another triumphant season in the private warfare with the Giants and came close to clinching third place today as they won their final clash with New York, 7 to 3. Brooklyn took the season's series, fifteen games to seven.

Leroy "Bud" Parmelee, making his second start for the Giants since his return from Columbus, was the victim of the greater part of the Dodgers assault. He gave up eight hits and four runs in the first six innings.

Herman Bell hurled the next two innings, allowing only a homer by Glenn Wright in the eighth. Walter Hoyt was found for three more hits and a pair of runs in the ninth.

R. H. E.
Brooklyn 7 12 0
New York 3 6 0
Batteries: Shaule, Munro, Quinn and Lopez; Parmelee, Bell, Hoyt and Hogan.

Cards Down Reds
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22 (AP).—Home runs by Puccelli and Cy Wilson helped St. Louis Cardinals in defeating Cincinnati Reds today, 8 to 5, and making a clean sweep of the three-game series.

Three Canadians Win Way to Semis In Golf Tourney

Margery Kirkham, Mrs. Eddis and Doris Taylor Advance—Bernice Wall Defeats Mrs. Alex Gold, Medalist, to Reach Last Four

MONTREAL, Sept. 22.—Hope for a Canadian victory soared at Kanawaki Golf Club today as three of the Dominion's golfers marched into the semi-finals of the Canadian women's golf tournament. With them is one United States player.

To the astonishment of a large gallery, Margery Kirkham, Forest Hills, Montreal, eliminated Fritz Ruffel, Wheeling, Va., contender. A few minutes later Mrs. Charles S. Eddis, of Rosedale, Toronto, scored a sensational 3-and-2 victory over the highly regarded Buffalo contender, Peggy Wattles.

DORIS TAYLOR WINS
The advancing Canadians were joined by Doris Taylor, of Kanawaki, who scored easily over her local rival, Lucille Rolland, of Laval. The semi-final quartette was completed in the startling manner of the day's happenings when Bernice Wall, crack Oshkosh, Wis., player, defeated Mrs. Alex Gold of Beaconsfield, England, 2 up. The English woman won the qualifying medal Monday.

Miss Wall meets Miss Kirkham tomorrow in the upper bracket semi-final. The match is over the eighteen-hole route. In the other semi-final Miss Taylor will tee off against Mrs. Eddis.

Ant Lunacy—That ants are susceptible to insanity has been demonstrated by Dr. Robert Staeger, of Berlin, who observed a member of an ant colony sporting itself in the manner of a lunatic. Isolating the crazy one, Dr. Staeger killed it and sent it to Dr. Rudolph Brun, of Zurich, who dissected it under the microscope. A tumor on the left side of the brain was found to be the cause of its abnormal behavior.

E. VINES GOES DOWN BEFORE NIPPON STAR

U.S. Tennis Champ Defeated in Straight Sets by Jiro Satoh—Austin Wins

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 22 (AP).—Elsworth Vines, Jr., United States tennis champion, was eliminated from the singles competition of the Pacific Southwest tennis tournament in the quarter-finals today by Jiro Satoh, brilliant Japanese star, 6-4, 6-4.

Satoh simply played too much tennis for Vines, making sparkling placements off the Pasadena's strongest returns and waiting on the base line for the champion to net the ball or bound it out of the court.

Another upset followed as Giorgio De Stefani, Italy, won from Wilmer Allison, Davis Cup star of Austin, Texas, 2-6, 7-5, 6-1, after being twice within match point of defeat.

Mrs. John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, seeded number five, eliminated Carolyn Babcock, of Los Angeles, the women's singles, 6-1, 6-2. Miss Babcock was seeded number one.

Foreign players continued to sweep the Yankees off the court as Henry Austin, British champion, eliminated John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, Davis Cup player, 6-4, 1-6, 6-0.

STEPHENSON IS ELECTED HEAD

Popular Enthusiast Appointed President of Canadian Scottish Rugby Teams

Lieut.-Col. Brooke Stephenson was elected president of the Canadian Scottish Rugby teams at the annual meeting held Wednesday night at the Armories. The gathering was largely attended and Colonel Stephenson's choice as head of the squads met with the unanimous approval of the players.

A special committee consisting of Major R. Kingham, Captain Stuart Robinson, Fred Cabell and Sergeant Warburton was chosen to look after the interests of the teams.

Coach Bob Travis was again appointed to the senior fifteen, and Ian Simpson was named as Travis' assistant. Cyril Wightman and W. Parker will be looking after the senior "B" squad, and P. Derbyshire will be training the intermediate "B" aggregation.

The meeting decided to appoint captains of the various teams at the next meeting. The Scottish will hold a dinner for the players at the Armories October 7.

Winning the tenth with a par and the eleventh with a birdie four, Miss Todd became six up and seven to go. The next hole was halved and the Oak Bay player was down six.

Miss Todd overdrove the 174-yard thirteenth and Mrs. Jackson won the hole with a par three to prolong the match, but it wasn't for long, as Miss Todd won the next hole and the match with a four to Mrs. Jackson's five.

CHAMPION WINS
Parring the long first hole in five, Mrs. Bayward-Wilson jumped into an early lead over Mrs. Philbrick. The short second was halved in four and Mrs. Bayward-Wilson created her lead by winning the third with a five to Mrs. Philbrick's six.

Mrs. Bayward-Wilson played the fourth in four and won the sixth with a five to square the match. Mrs. Bayward-Wilson played the remaining holes to the turn in 5, 4, 3, 3, to start the homeward journey, enjoying a three-hole lead.

The tenth was halved in five as was the next hole in the same figures. Two sixes halved the twelfth, and Mrs. Bayward-Wilson increased her lead by parring the short thirteenth to go four up and five to go. The fourteenth was halved in four and Mrs. Bayward-Wilson won the match.

Mrs. Bayward-Wilson played the fifth in four and won the sixth with a five to square the match. Mrs. Bayward-Wilson played the remaining holes to the turn in 5, 4, 3, 3, to start the homeward journey, enjoying a three-hole lead.

Mrs. Sayward-Wilson Will Meet Marjorie Todd for the Title

Defending Titleholder Disposes of Mrs. Philbrick, 5 and 3, and Oak Bay Youngster Eliminates Mrs. Jackson, 6 and 4—Final Commences at 1:30 o'clock

Uncocking a beautiful array of shots and jumping at the opportunities offered them by their opponents, Marjorie Todd, Oak Bay youngster and medalist, and Mrs. Sayward-Wilson, Royal Colwood Club, and defending titleholder, reached the final of the women's city golf championship yesterday afternoon at the Victoria Golf Club. The seventeen-year-old medal winner played brilliantly to dispose of Mrs. Jackson, Uplands Club champion, 6 and 4, and Mrs. Sayward-Wilson was in great form to account for Mrs. Philbrick, Oak Bay, and a former city title winner, 5 and 3. Today's final will get under way this afternoon, at 1:30 o'clock, over the eighteen-hole distance and one of the closest battles in recent years is expected.

Mrs. Hew Paterson, Oak Bay, and Miss Fitzgibbon, Colwood, reached the first flight final. The former eliminated Miss Carey, Oak Bay, 4 and 3, and the latter took Mrs. Howard, Oak Bay, via the 3 and 2 route. This final will start at 1:15 o'clock, fifteen minutes before the city finalists.

That the younger generation of niblick experts is forging to the front in local golfing, was proven yesterday in the finals of the various flights. Miss Mackenzie-Grieve, young Uplands player, came through the second flight by downing Mrs. Cecil Eve, another Uplands member, 1 up, while Miss Mary Money took Mrs. Pangman into camp in the third flight, 2 up.

Mrs. Mitchell broke the string of youthful victories by downing Miss Bruce in the fifth flight, 3 and 2, but Miss Ruby Bethell defeated Mrs. Watson in the fourth flight at the nineteenth, and Miss Banfield defeated Mrs. Nickson in the sixth flight, 3 and 1.

Following today's finals, Mrs. Walter Parry, women's captain, will present the prizes to the various winners.

TAKES EARLY LEAD
After halving the first hole in par, Mrs. Todd caged a four on the short second to go into a lead against Mrs. Jackson, who never relinquished. The Oak Bay youngster played the next three holes in 5, 4, 4, to go four up. After a beautiful drive on the sixth, Miss Todd ran into trouble and took a seven to close the hole.

The seventh was halved in par, and Mrs. Todd parred the eighth in three for a win and halved the ninth in three to round the halfway mark four holes to the good. Miss Todd reached the turn in 39, despite her seven, while Mrs. Jackson had 43.

Winning the tenth with a par and the eleventh with a birdie four, Miss Todd became six up and seven to go. The next hole was halved and the Oak Bay player was down six.

Miss Todd overdrove the 174-yard thirteenth and Mrs. Jackson won the hole with a par three to prolong the match, but it wasn't for long, as Miss Todd won the next hole and the match with a four to Mrs. Jackson's five.

PLAY TO DRAW
LONDON, Sept. 22 (CP).—Northampton Town and Brighton and Hove played a scoreless draw in a scheduled fixture of the English League, Third Division, Southern Section, today.

PORTSMOUTH WILL BATTLE ASTON VILLA

Leading Teams Will Meet in Feature of English First Division

LONDON, Sept. 22 (CP).—English football on Saturday will be featured by the meeting of Portsmouth and Aston Villa on the former's grounds. The teams, together with West Bromwich Albion, who are at home to Leeds United, share the leadership of the First Division of the league, and a stern struggle is certain.

The Albion, on paper, appear to have the easiest opposition, but with players settling down to mid-season form, a forecast of the result is rendered more difficult. A battle royal will take place at Highbury, where Arsenal play Everton, last season's champions.

Bradford City, who have a lead of two points over Stoke City and Plymouth Argyle in the Second Division, visit Nottingham, where they play the County, who have no victories to their credit this season.

Stoke and Argyle also play away from home, the former going to Preston and the latter to Swansea.

MAY WIDEN LEAD
In the Southern Section of the Third Division, Brentford have an excellent opportunity to increase their lead, as they play Newport County on the away leg.

Reading go to Bristol, where they will find the Rovers a tough proposition on their own ground, while in the third round, Exeter City's opposition equally as hard in the southern city.

Winning a midweek game with Walsall, Chester assumed the leadership of the Northern Section, but they have played two more games than Crewe Alexandra, Southport and Gateshead, who are tied for second place with nine points one behind the leader. Chester are away to Wrexham at the week-end.

BROOKS ALL SET TO MEET PORTLANDER

Local Matman in Fine Shape for Bout With Bob Kruse Tonight

Plenty of action is promised wrestling fans tonight at the Pacific Stadium, when "Rocky" Brooks, Victoria heavyweight, meets Bob Kruse, rugged Portland, in what is called a grudge bout. The local matman has been angling for a rematch with Kruse ever since the Portlander kicked him out of the ring and knocked him unconscious here several months ago, and tonight Brooks will have a chance to get revenge. The show will start at 8:45 o'clock, and women with escorts will be admitted free.

The semi-wind-up will bring together two more heavyweights, when "Wild" Bill Donovan, Portland, clashes with Hardy Krukamp, of Denver. The pair will meet over five eight-minute rounds. Donovan has appeared here before and knows the game well. Krukamp will be making his first appearance. They will enter the ring at around 200 pounds.

BROOKS IN SHAPE
Brooks has been training hard for the Kruse battle and is in great shape. He will enter the ring at 202 pounds, while Kruse will weigh about 208. The bout is scheduled to 60 eight-ten-minute rounds. The Portlander is one of the toughest and roughest men in the game, and if Brooks can take him, it will boost his stock considerably.

Two preliminary bouts of three rounds will open the show. The first will be between Jim McPherson and Lloyd Penlon, and the second will bring together Al Gottfeller and Ab Gardner. All are local boys.

PLAY TO DRAW
LONDON, Sept. 22 (CP).—Northampton Town and Brighton and Hove played a scoreless draw in a scheduled fixture of the English League, Third Division, Southern Section, today.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON
The Cradle of the Spirits—Modern spiritualism was born in the home of J. D. Fox, at Hydesville, New York, where on March 31, 1848, the phenomena of table rapping and other noises attributed to spiritual agencies manifested themselves for the first time. The two daughters of the owner, Margaret and Katie, who later became famous as the Fox sisters, were the first spiritualist media. From Hydesville the belief of modern spiritualists that the dead are able to communicate with their survivors, spread over the world. The Fox cottage, considered the Cradle of Spiritualism, has been moved from Hydesville to Lily Dale, New York, in 1916.

NEW DIVISIONS TO OPERATE IN LOCAL RUGBY LOOP

"B" Section Added To League; to Open End of Next Month

Three Sections to Be in Operation When 1932-33 Schedule Gets Under Way—Rules Governing Senior "A" and "B" Fifteens Passed at Last Night's Meeting of Local Union

Three divisions will operate in the Victoria and District Rugby League this season. This was definitely decided at last night's adjourned special meeting of the local union held in the offices of Mason & Diespecker, Senior "A," Senior "B" and the intermediate league will operate during the 1932-33 season. Rearrangement of the league is being done to bring in more teams from local and outside points and for the betterment of the game on the island. The meeting went through the constitution clause by clause with only a few changes resulting. President Russell Ker occupied the chair.

As a result of the change, the Intermediate League will be restricted to players under 160 pounds, except bona fide school teams. At the next meeting of the local union will set the opening date and a day for closing entries and further plans for the grand opening will be dealt with.

Officials announced last night that the league would in all probability commence at the end of next month, about the same time as the Canadian Rugby League concludes its schedule in Victoria.

Following are the union's regulations for the formation of the senior "A" and "B" division squads: "At the commencement of the season each club shall supply the secretary of the union with the names of players who shall comprise the 'A' and 'B' divisions. Not more than twelve names shall be given for 'A' division, but no limit shall be placed on the number for the 'B' division.

NEW RULES
"Players from the 'B' division shall be available at any time for 'A' division if required for purpose of making good any vacancies of a temporary nature, but should such players be available at any time for 'A' division their services shall not be further available for 'B' division, as hereinafter set forth. In other words, should a player from 'A' division be unable to play owing to injuries or other causes, 'B' division player may be used to take his place, and such 'B' division player shall automatically revert to his own division when his services as substitute are no longer required. Each club shall notify the secretary of the union prior to the game in which such substitution is required. 'A' division players shall not be eligible to play on 'B' division teams, unless players from 'B' division is permanently relegated to 'B' division, and in such case this player shall not be eligible for the balance of the season for 'A' division.

"No player shall play in divisions for any other team than that of the club of which he is a bona fide member.

"As long as a man is substituting for 'A' division he is not eligible to play in the 'B' division.

THE OBJECT

"By the foregoing systems, every player has a special inducement to keep fit and in good condition so that he can give the best that is in him. 'A' division players will know that if they do not measure up to standard they stand a chance of being placed in 'B' division, while 'B' division players should put forth every effort to gain promotion to 'A' division. This should promote a healthy feeling of rivalry and give some special object for which to strive."

VANCOUVER, Sept. 22 (CP).—Big Joe Dailey, the man hurler of the V.A.C., who pitched his way to a 3-0 win over Fraser Cafe last night, to tie up the series at two-all, came back tonight with another sterling performance as Bob Brown's Vacs nosed out the New Westminster squad, 3-2, to capture the British Columbia senior baseball championship.

Timely hitting of the Vacs behind the five-hit pitching of Dailey, coupled with a sparkling display of fielding at second base by Jimmy McKissock, earned the redcaps their victory tonight. Besides cutting off several threatening rallies with sensational catches, McKissock started the Vacs' scoring. In the first inning he doubled and came in on Jack Cole's single. The redcaps added another score in the next frame, when Purnell lifted the ball over the left field wall with none on.

WIN IN SEVENTH
Two walks and two singles gave the cafemen their scores in the fifth. Vacs won the game and the title in the seventh, when Frank Hall singled, stole second and scored on Haugland's cracking double.

World Series Who's Who

By CENTRAL PRESS

EARL COMBS

Earl B. Combs is the one veteran Yankee who was developed by Joe McCarthy. Back in 1922 and 1923 Earl—a red-headed fellow from KY., where he was born May 14, 1901—played in the outfield for the Louisville American association team and did right well.

He did so well, in fact, that the Louisville manager, this same McCarthy, sold him to the New York Yankees for $50,000.

A year or so later, McCarthy, himself, went up to the big leagues as manager of the Chicago Cubs. Now teacher and pupil are together again.

Combs has an excellent world series record. His total batting average for the 1926, 1927 and 1928 series is .341.

Hazen S. Cuyler was the star Cub outfielder's name to the folks in Harrieville, Mich., where he was born Aug. 30, 1899. But he's Kiki to you and me.

Pittsburgh Pirate scouts saw him in Bay City, Mich., in his first professional year in 1920—and grabbed him. For six seasons and one world series—1925—he was a great aid to the Buccaners. He was unable to play in the Pittsburgh-New York 1927 series.

He also played with the Cubs in the 1929 world series.

Then, shrewd Joe McCarthy offered Pittsburgh two players for him and the deal was made, a great trade—for the Cubs.

Cuyler's consistent batting was one of the chief factors in the Cubs' recent magnificent drive for the National League pennant.

WEDNESDAY CRICKET
Sports Editor:
Sir—Although the Victoria team won the Wednesday cricket championship yesterday by beating the Hudson's Bay team, I don't really think it reflects very much credit on them, when they have to call upon their regular Saturday players to do it. I refer especially to Wilkinson, in the province, and Goward, who between them won the match. Without a doubt, as a spectator, these two far too good for the Hudson's Bay team, who only get Wednesday afternoon each week.

"I am sorry to hear that the Hudson's Bay team is not doing so well in the proper spirit. Hudson's Bay were beaten almost before they went in, they did their best, but were just not good enough for these Saturday players."

FORSYTH WINS FROM TED THYE
Vancouver Maltman Pins Forlander—Krusc and John Forlander in Draw

VANCOUVER, Sept. 22 (CP).—Jack Forsyth, Vancouver, took two out of three falls from Ted Thye, Portland, to win the last half of a main event double bill on the wrestling card here tonight.

Forsyth weighed 210; Thye, 198. In the other half of the double bill Bob Krusc, Portland, 205, and Jack Forlander, Seattle, 228, went five rounds to a draw. Krusc conceded the first fall to Forlander in the third round, taking a fall with a body press.

In the semi-wind-up Nick Lafavey, San Francisco, took a lone fall with a flying tackle and body press in the third round to defeat Bob Campbell, University of Illinois wrestler.

Lafavey weighed 154; Campbell, 150.

In the curtain raiser, Tom Newton, Edmonton, and Mal Braugh, Nova Scotia, wrestled to a no-fall draw.

TATE RETAINS GOLFING TITLE
Vancouver Assistant Pro Keeps Pacific Northwest Crown After Fine Showing

TACOMA, Sept. 22.—Ernie Tate, Vancouver, successfully defended his Pacific Northwest crown after a fine showing today, at the Allentown course, shooting a par-breaking 66 in the morning and a steady 72 in the afternoon for a thirty-six-hole total of 138. He led his nearest competitor, Harold Hall, of Aberdeen, by three strokes.

The victory gave Tate his third sailing trophy. He has won the championship in 1918 at Broadmoor, and again at Overlake in 1921.

The first five scores were:
Ernie Tate, Vancouver, 66-72-138.
Harold Hall, Aberdeen, 71-70-141.
Johnny Wise, Allentown, Tacoma, 71-72-143.
Nart Nordstrom, Sand Point, Seattle, 73-70-143.
Ken Tucker, Everett, 74-71-145.

5TH REGIMENT ENTERS LEAGUE

To Have Teams in Senior "A" and Intermediate Section of Local Cage Loop

For the first time in many years basketball teams flying the colors of the 5th Regiment will be seen in action in the Victoria and District League this season. Russell Ker, president of the Victoria Rugby Union, started the move to put the veteran regimental unit back into the local cage limelight, and before the season is over he expects to have his efforts rewarded with a couple of championship quintettes. Alan Le Marquand, Rugby star and former basketballer, has been appointed coach of the two squads, one of which will play in the senior "A" division and the other in the intermediate "A" section.

Coach Le Marquand has lined up four of last year's Buyata for his senior quintette, including Alex Cudlip, Harold Shepherd, Buzz Brown and Lynn Patrick, while Lloyd Jones, of last year's championship squad, the Commercial, has signed a form, Doug Peden, younger brother of the famous "Torchy" Peden, great six-day bike rider, is shaping up well and will see plenty of action during the season.

How It Started
"SEA-DOG"
We have an inquiry as to the origin of the term "sea-dog." "I have heard it used," says our reader, "with absolutely no intention of offence, even of officers in the navy."
True. While the term can hardly be described as elegant, there is nothing undignified in its significance, and it has the sanction of common usage to indicate simply one who has followed the sea for years and loves it to the extent of not feeling at home on land.
The derivation of the term lies in the comparison of man's love of and faithfulness to his calling on the sea with the faithfulness to himself of man's best friend, the dog.

IF I WERE YOU

CHAPTER V

"Your lordship?" said the girl. "I'm sorry," said Tony. "Hullo Nannie," he continued, turning to Mrs. Price.

"It wasn't fair," said the girl. "I know," said Tony. "I'm sorry."

"Leading me on that way," Mrs. Price spoke reprovingly. "Now, don't you go being saucy to his lordship, Polly. Leading you on, indeed!"

"Nannie," said Tony, "I blush to say that I did lead her on. You must have brought me on very badly."

"I'm sure, my lord," said Mrs. Price, bridling, "I gave you all the love and care that any baby could wish."

"But too little of the back of the hairbrush. With what result? I acted a lie to this young lady. A lie, I tell you. A lie. My God!"

He covered his face with his hands. Polly laughed. Mrs. Price became searier.

"You've bin upsetting 'is lordship," "No," said Tony. "I upset her. That's how we met."

"Well, it all looks very queer to me," said Mrs. Price, "and if you ask me if I like it, I'll tell you frankly I don't."

She would have developed this theme, but at this moment the door opened and Singsby burst in.

"Oh! 'Ere again! Didn't I tell you?" "He again?" said Tony, and his manner lost its generous fire and became butlerish.

"May I urge with the utmost emphasis, m'lord, that it's no fault of mine that this woman keeps popping in here every two minutes like a rabbit into its 'ole?"

"It's quite all right. We were just having a cosy little chat."

"Very good, your lordship."

Tony turned to Polly. "By the way," he said, "have we met?"

"My name is Drotwich-Lord."

Polly smiled her ready smile. "Mine is Brown-Polly."

"How do you do, Miss Brown?" "Pleased to meet you, Lord Drotwich."

They shook hands. And, as they did so, Lady Lydia Bassinger came in, followed by Sir Herbert.

Lady Lydia stopped in the doorway. Mrs. Price was not one of her favorites, and the drawing-room at the moment seemed full of her.

As a preliminary to rebuking what she considered the undue levity and familiarity of Miss Polly Brown, Ma Price had begun to swell.

Formidably, and she appeared to be about to open her mouth, but she was too much occupied with her own position.

"Ah, Price," she said stiffly. "How are you?"

"Nice, thank you, m'lord. If it wasn't that me 'eart is brykin'!"

"Too bad," said Lady Lydia coldly. "You must do something about it."

"This is Miss Brown, Aunt Lydia," said Tony. "I just knocked her seventeen yards, two feet and seven inches with my car. A European record."

To the visitor from a far land Lady Lydia could be gracious.

"I hope you're not hurt, my dear," she said amiably. "My nephew, when he gets behind a steering wheel, is a public menace. You are the manicurist, aren't you, from young Price's shop? I must get you to look at my hands next time I'm in London."

"And if," resumed Mrs. Price, suddenly deciding to address her remarks to Sir Herbert and fixing him with an Ancient Mariner eye, "you ask why me 'eart is brykin'?"

"I don't, dash it," said Sir Herbert, recoiling.

Lady Lydia came to the rescue of her hard-pressed male.

"Singsby," she said, "take Price into the housekeeper's room and give her some port and anything else she wants."

"All I want is a little love and affection," the guest of honor pointed out, dabbing at her eyes with a soiled handkerchief. "Can't I have a bit of a word with you, m'lord?"

"I'll come and see you later, Nannie," said Tony. It was plain to him that his Aunt Lydia had had all of Mrs. Price's society that her system could support. "I've got to take my car back to the garage."

"I see," said the sufferer, descending further into the depths. "Your car means more to you than I do—me that's done so much for you."

Lady Lydia and Sir Herbert exchanged glances.

"Singsby!" said Lady Lydia authoritatively.

The butler knew his place too well to throw a look of sympathy and understanding in her direction, but he puffed like one who saw just what she meant.

"Very good, m'lord." He turned to his sister. "Come on, if you please, and don't be silly."

Just as Lady Lydia, a moment before, had "picked up" the butler's eye like a booby at a dinner party, so now did Singsby pick up Polly's.

He had not known long, but he had seen enough of her to be sure that she was a girl to be relied on at a time like this.

Nor was his confidence misplaced. Obeying the silent call, Polly Brown went to Mrs. Price, and taking her arm, started to lead her off.

"Come along, Mrs. Price," she said cheerfully. "I'll do you a lot of good to sit down and have a rest."

Mrs. Price considered this. She seemed doubtful.

"Well, all right. But if I wanted to, I could..."

"Price!" cried Sir Herbert sharply. The injured woman looked at him as if she were seeing him for the first time.

"Why, 'ow do you do, Sir Herbert? I was just saying..."

"Never mind what you were just saying," interrupted Lady Lydia. "Lord Drotwich will see you again before you go."

"Of course," said Tony. Ma Price shook her head—a head on which, like the Mona Lisa's, all the sorrows of the world seemed to have fallen.

"He hasn't any love left for me—none at all."

"Nonsense!" It was Sir Herbert who spoke. "Of course he has. Now run along, there's a good woman."

Tell me, you've been getting your pension all right, haven't you?"

"Oh, yes. I've been getting my pension. But sometimes I wonder if it's worth it. It seems like selling your birthright for a mess of porridge."

With a final sniff she permitted Polly to lead her from the room. Singsby brought up the rear of the procession, his manner a nice blend of disclaiming any connection with the scene and of apology for having a sister.

Tony was staring after her. "What on earth was she talking about?"

"Nothing. Nothing," Sir Herbert flicked his head irritably, as if shaking off a fly. "She's tight. Better take her up to her sitting-room, Lydia, and keep her there till it's time for her to go home."

"Yes, I think you're right."

Tony looked from one to the other in astonishment.

"Good heavens!" he said. "Why? What's all the trouble?"

"She's a glib old fool," said Sir Herbert shortly, "and in her present condition, goodness knows what she might say to the servants."

"What could she say?"

"Oh, I don't know," Sir Herbert shrugged uncomfortably. "She's quite capable of inventing stories about your father."

"Why my father?"

"Or me. Or anyone. For heaven's sake, don't keep asking questions. Tony could make nothing of this."

"What on earth are you so nervous about?"

"Nonsense. I'm not nervous."

Tony uttered a sudden whoop.

"My God! I've got it. Uncle Herbert. Ma Price is a bit of your murky past!"

"Don't be idiotic, Tony," said Lady Lydia.

"Do hurry, Lydia," said Sir Herbert. "Don't stand there wasting time. Get her and keep her where you till she's slept it off. Even now she may be talking."

As the door closed behind Lady Lydia, Tony turned jovially to his uncle, prepared to pump this thing to the bottom.

"Now, then, Uncle Herbert, look in the eye. Was the good lady anything to you twenty-five years ago?"

Sir Herbert snorted.

"Hm!" said Tony. "Do I believe you or don't I? Your manner is evasive and suspicious. I always wondered why you insisted on Ma Price having a pension."

"Good God, boy! Isn't a faithful servant entitled to a pension?"

"Oh, I don't grudge it her. I'm very fond of her—especially at a distance. Of Syd, her offspring, not quite so fond. I suspect that lad of saying nasty things about the aristocracy in Hyde Park. He looks at me with an accusing eye, as if he thought it was me and the likes of me what block the wheels of progress. He'd be less severe if he knew what a dashed sweat it was being an earl. I wish he could be one for a bit."

"Good God!" Sir Herbert's cry was almost a yell. "Don't say that."

"Yes, I mean it. I'm fed to the collar stud with all these fellows who think an earl hasn't a care in the world. I suppose they think an estate runs itself. If Syd Price were suddenly to find himself in my shoes..."

"Please! Please!"

"What's the matter? What are you quivering about?"

"I'm not quivering."

"You're quivering like some beautiful flower in a high is spring. Herbert, and what I want to know..."

"Oh, ere you are!"

The head of Ma Price had insinuated itself round the corner of the door. Sir Herbert Bassinger started at it as if it had belonged to Ma Price herself. If Syd Price were suddenly to find himself in my shoes..."

"Good Lord!" he groaned. "What is the matter with Lydia?"

What Today Means

"VIRGO"

If September 23 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a.m. to 1:10 p.m., from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m., and from 10 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m., and from 7:15 p.m. to 9:10 p.m.

The stars foretell for September 23 an unexpected disappointment, its ultimate effects will, however, be productive of good results. Speculation should be avoided. It is a bad day to "take a chance."

Although the day's prospects for professions are good, those engaged in commercial pursuits may be, at least temporarily, "up against it."

A child born on this September 23 will be very unreliable, although winning in its ways and exceedingly affectionate. Its character will not be a strong one, and it will be too easily influenced by others or by environment. Its readiness to express regret, and its willingness to make amends will get it out of many a tight corner.

You, if born on September 23, have a fearful personality, and possess many of the necessary qualities of leadership. You assert yourself not by words, but by deeds. Enthusiastic in all work that you undertake, tireless and fearless, you fire those under you with ambition to do their utmost. You not only have the happy knack of getting every ounce of energy out of those that work for or with you, but what is even of more value, you secure their respect and affection. This is especially evident if you are a woman, in the home, when one and all follow your lead.

Your disposition, although outwardly rather gruff, is one that inspires affection. As a man, you rather pride yourself on, and try to cultivate, a forbidding aspect; as a woman, you try to be "standoffish." This, however, is only the outside shell; crack it, and there will be found a kernel of loving sympathy and a keen yearning for love and affection. In the intimacy of family life, where no attempt is made to be other than you want to be, those with whom you live will find in you a tower of strength.

Sir Herbert snorted.

"Hm!" said Tony. "Do I believe you or don't I? Your manner is evasive and suspicious. I always wondered why you insisted on Ma Price having a pension."

"Good God, boy! Isn't a faithful servant entitled to a pension?"
